Guest of Ebell

This cordial greeting and gracious response between Mrs. W. S. Thomson (left), president of Santa Ana Ebell society, and the Honorable Ruth Bryan Owen, this country's Woman Diplomat Number One, was photographed at the clubhouse entrance just before the former minister to Denmark made her appearance on the auditorium stage last night, to address one of the largest crowds ever entertained by Ebell society.—Register Photo.

RUTH BRYAN OWEN TELLS OF COOPERATIVES IN DENMARK

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

To those members and friends of Ebell society who last night taxed the capacity of the clubhouse auditorium to hear Ruth Bryan Owen, was given a double pleasure. Not only were they given an informative account of "The Scandinavian Co-operative Movement," but it was their privilege to hear and meet again, one of the most arresting personalities that country has ever produced.

Ruth Bryan Owen, or to give her the title which is hers in private life, Mrs. Boerge Rohde, wife of Kammerjunker Captain Rohde of the King's life guards in Copenhagen, apparently made an exhaustive study of the co-operative movement in Denmark when she served as United States minister to that country. Results of her study and investigation were given Ebell society and its guests last night in one of the most interesting programs that the clubwomen have ever shared with their friends.

Gracious Personality
Mrs. W. S. Thomson, president of the hostess society presented the speaker, whose gracious and vivid personality had made a distinct impression on an Ebell audience at an earlier speaking engagement here some half dozen years ago. Her regal height and carriage, her crown of silver hair, and her resonant speaking voice were all familiar to her audience, as was that friendliness with which she lingered to meet everyone personally after the lecture.

The flashes of humor in her talk began with her first words, for she solemnly assured her audience that she had debated discussing "Democracy at Work in Denmark," but was fearful that it would be received in a political significance.

Faces Development
In tracing the development of the co-operative movement, she pointed out that it began two generations ago among the small farmers marketing their produce. She traced it through the dairy industry, through the eggs and poultry, through the stock raising for food purposes, and pointed out the manner in which the whole country had been led over into dairy country because the wheat market had been lost, making it necessary to raise animals instead.

"The organization is so perfect," she declared, "that in the case of a single bad egg appearing in a large shipment to England, it is

POLICE ACCUSER LODGED IN JAIL

William A. Curtiss, Hollywood oil promoter, wanted by the San Clemente city police on a charge of drunk driving following his failure to appear before Judge Fred S. Warner, today was in the county jail, arrested by local and Hollywood police after an all night vigil near his home in Hollywood.

Curtiss, who, according to officials and several San Clemente citizens, witnesses, accused San Clemente officers, falsely, of taking $300 from him while he was held, stopped payment on a $20 check given to bail bondsman Ernest Webb who participated in last night's arrest.

Curtiss was arrested, with Mrs. Louise Powelson, Hollywood grandmother, on a grand theft charge, following the alleged sale of bogus oil stocks to a Tustin widow who asked that her name be withheld.

Arresting officers were deputy sheriff G. F. McKelvey, Harold Boyce, of the San Clemente police, and Hollywood police.

Webb, who put up the bail bond for Curtiss, issued a $50 reward for Curtiss' arrest Nov. 5.

S. A. LAWYER TO SUCCEED DALE IN UNIT

By PAUL VISSMAN
Members of the Orange county unit of the California Assembly of Democrats met in Fullerton last night for "a washing of dirty linen" and when the wash had all been hung out to dry, the unit had been completely reorganized.

H. C. Head, prominent Santa Ana attorney, member of the Orange County Democratic Central Committee and long recognized power in the Bourbon party, was elected chairman of the unit succeeding Chester Dale, who had held the post since organization of the Assembly.

Members of the organization supporting the former regime attempted to block the reorganization move seeking a 60-day stay of execution before the election. This was blocked when Claude Pullen of Costa Mesa and one of the district vice-chairmen of the organization declared: "We are going to settle this right now."

COAST SHIPPING PARLEY CALLED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy of the U. S. Maritime commission today invited port authorities in 27 cities to participate in a conference to discuss possible realignment of American steamship services engaged in foreign trade.

Commission officials said the discussions probably would include possible transfers of ocean vessels now engaged in inter-coastal trade to foreign trade channels, including the proposed shift of Panama Pacific and Grace line passenger ships.

"As you undoubtedly know, the maritime commission is charged with the duty of making exhaustive studies of all foreign trade steamship services now maintained upon those trade routes deemed to be essential," Kennedy said in his invitation.

"In bringing about the most efficient operation of these essential trade routes it may be necessary to effect realignments of existing steamship services, although this is now mentioned as a possibility and not yet a certainty."

MERRIAM DEFENDS STATE SALES TAX

WILLIAMS, Cal., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Speaking at a testimonial dinner given by the California Republican Assembly here, Gov. Frank F. Merriam last night defended the sales tax and attacked the proposal for a one-house legislature in California.

Of the sales tax he said: "Revenue derived from this source is responsible for having kept every school in California open during the period of depression—a record not equaled by any other state in the union."

Attacking the one-house legislature proposal, Gov. Merriam declared it would rob the sparsely settled districts of the state of representation in the legislature and throw full control to the heavily populated areas.

Test Sanity Of Folsom Convicts

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Sanity trial of four Folsom prison convicts, condemned to death for the slaying of Warden Clarence A. Larkin, was resumed in Superior court here today.

The defendants, Wesley Eudy, Albert Kessel, Fred Barnes and Ed Davis will be executed in the new lethal gas chamber at San Quentin if they are found sane. Also scheduled for execution is their prison mate, Robert Lee Cannon, who did not plead insanity.

The convicts are before the same jury that last Friday found them guilty of first-degree murder in Larkin's death. The warden was one of four persons, including two convicts, who died in the Sept. 19 prison break attempt at Folsom.

Demand CIO Surrender In Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 30.—(UP)—American Federation of Labor leaders today interrupted a desperate attempt to solve the labor war in the city's lumber industry by demanding "complete surrender" by the Committee for Industrial Organization as the price for peace.

Negotiations reached a critical stage last night and Gov. Charles H. Martin announced at a conference: "I won't stand by and see the economic structure of our state ruined. This fight simply cannot go on any longer. It has got to stop."

Gathered at the meeting were federal, state and city officials;

TAX REVISION LOOMS FOR U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Federal efforts to check the business recession developed a more generous attitude today toward tax revision to aid business and a concrete application of treasury economy plans to balance the budget.

Chairman Pat Harrison of the Senate Finance Committee repudiated present capital gains and corporation surplus taxes in a speech insisting that both must be modified.

Harrison gave business grounds to hope that modification may go beyond limits now planned by House Ways and Means committee. The senator charged the taxes with responsibility for curtailing federal revenue, retarding industrial development and contributing to unemployment. He said the capital gains tax had discouraged trading in stocks, securities and other holdings.

Details of budget balancing economies to be effected by reducing federal contributions to highway construction were contained in a Presidential message to congress to be read shortly after noon.

President Roosevelt outlined general highway economy objectives last week before departing for a Florida fishing vacation. It was understood that the administration hoped to modify statutory requirements that more than $200,000,000 of highway funds be offered annually as federal grants in aid of road building. On the basis of last week's White House remarks it was estimated that the President might ask Congress to reduce that commitment to $50,000,000 or $30,000,000 to establish a net savings of upwards of $100,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt's message represents a positive endorsement of the economy program proposed Nov. 19 in a speech by Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr. Morgenthau told a New York audience the government should bring its expenditures within income by making cuts aggregating $700,000,000 in appropriation for unemployment relief, civilian conservation corps, public servants, public works and agriculture.

Those items of expenditure will aggregate $3,311,000,000 in this fiscal year. Morgenthau's proposed economies would reduce the cost next year to $2,611,000,000. Congressional reaction to economies in the fields proposed by Morgenthau still is uncertain but there is general non-partisan enthusiasm for a reduction of taxes that apply to business.

Some suggestions for reshuffling vessels now engaged in the New York-Pacific coast trade to South American routes, the switch of certain ships from South American trade to London and Liverpool service and the transfer of vessels now in the North Atlantic service to intercoastal routes or to other possible channels.

SONJA HENIE IS INJURED IN FALL

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Sonja Henie was suffering from a brain concussion today as a result of a bad fall on the ice while skating for a movie ironically titled "Happy Landings."

The "unhappy landing" occurred when one of the blonde Norwegian skater's skates stuck on a piece of cotton while she was executing a complicated maneuver. She was hurled backwards on her head and was unconscious for some moments.

Miss Henie still suffered dizzy spells today and work on the picture was held up. She will return to work in a day or two.

CENTURY BEFORE MOUNTAIN HALTS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(UP)—A geologist advised the city today to leave the "fallen mountain" of Elysian Park alone for at least the next century.

Any tinkering with the bulk of the mountain that crashed down in a 1,500,000-ton landslide Friday, may result in new and destructive avalanches, Dr. John P. Buwalda of the California Institute of Technology warned.

"It will be at least 100 years before that crumbled hillside will become wholly stable again," he reported. "Until it is entirely safe, there should be no construction of roads, pipe lines, gas mains, or electric lines across it."

SUPERVISORS ASK RULING OF MENTON

County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson today formally proposed a compromise of the fee issue with the county supervisors, as official circles waited for the grand jury to meet tomorrow and consider demands for a fee investigation, and the supervisors asked District Attorney W. F. Menton to rule on three phases of the controversial salary ordinance, namely the fee clause, the sick-leave clause and the date when salary schedules apply to county payroll.

Word that the grand jury has not yet asked for subpoenas for witnesses in the investigation requested by the five officials, indicated that no action would be taken by the inquisitorial body before its regular weekly meeting tomorrow.

STATE FREIGHT RATES BOOSTED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30.—(UP)—The California railroad commission today granted 52 California railroad companies permission to increase freight rates on basic commodities 7 to 10 per cent.

The order applied to the companies' intrastate commerce. The increased rates will be in the form of surcharges added to regular rates.

The order virtually duplicated a recent ruling by the interstate commission which affected railroad interstate rates. The railroads, in their applications, contended current rates were not sufficient to insure them a fair return because of increased operating expenses, higher taxes, higher interest rates and higher costs of raw materials.

The commission, commenting on its order, said that the new rates "might not be enough in some cases."

"It will be understood," the commission said in a statement, "that any shipper or group of shippers may challenge by complaint the reasonableness or lawfulness of any individual rate increases hereinafter authorized, should such increases be regarded as unreasonable or unlawful."

Among the companies affected by the higher rates were: Southern Pacific, Atchafalaya, Potomac & Santa Fe, Western Pacific, Great Northern, California Transportation Co., Pacific Electric Railroad Co., Northwestern Pacific Co., Sacramento Northern, Central California Traction Co., East Bay Street Railroad Co., Ltd., Los Angeles Junction Railroad Co., Potomac & Santa Rosa Railroad Co., The California Western Railroad and Navigation Co., and the San Francisco, Napa & Calistoga Railroad Co.

The commission said it "agreed with the railroad companies" that increased costs made higher freight rates necessary for adequate returns.

Increases were in effect from 1933 to 1936 in the form of surcharges allowed as regular freight rates by the interstate commerce commission on intrastate shipments. This order expired last year. Today's order restored increases.

U. S. to Maintain China Open Door

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—State department officials were determined today to maintain an open door for American trade in China despite Japan's conquest of China's richest provinces and chief seaport.

Representations lodged with the Japanese foreign office by American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, in connection with Japan's proposal to take over control of the Chinese maritime customs service, were regarded as merely the opening move of a diplomatic struggle to maintain equal trading privileges for all nations in China.

Accused Slayer Tells Of Gun Duel To Death With Family As Pawns

BILLINGS, Mont., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Frank Robideau pleaded today that Mike Kuntz took him out on a country road for a duel to the death over a load of wheat, that Kuntz brought his wife and child along because the winner was to exterminate the other's family, and that was why he had to kill him.

He said he didn't kill Mrs. Kuntz, wife were found Saturday in the but that when her husband fell she Kuntz automobile, which was parked inside the elevator.

Robideau was brought here to jail Monday. He is a slight and swarthy man, stoical in manner. He seemed to be calm, but a bulging vein in his temple occasionally showed his agitation as he talked.

Child Accused Farmer
The child lived to accuse Robideau, who was charged with murder today.

Robideau said that the row was "about some grain," and it was Kuntz who brought the family into it, bent on destroying one or the other in a feud akin to the Corsicans' vendettas out here in the wheat country.

Yellowstone county authorities were not entirely convinced by Robideau's story. If Kuntz had a gun it had not been found.

Kuntz operated a grain elevator at a little settlement called Wheat Basin. The body of Kuntz and his

L. A. JUDGE LAYS CLAIM TO 'RED-STRIPE' CAR WARNING

BY GEORGE HART

Stop, thief!
Superior Judge James L. Allen should be uttering that cry. They're trying to swipe his red-stripe idea. The idea of ordering a red stripe painted around the automobiles of drivers whose licenses are suspended for major traffic law violations.

Judge Allen made first application of the new plan two weeks ago to Calvin Sutton, of Huntington Beach. The news traveled fast, and got wide attention.

Why, The Ideal
Then, two days ago, a Los Angeles municipal judge adopted the plan and blandly presented it as his own idea.

The Los Angeles jurist, however, will be somewhat hampered in getting away with his larceny. It seems that certain newspapers have commented upon the plan and praised it, incidentally identifying it as the property of Judge Allen, of Orange county. One of these was the Hollywood Citizen-

"News, which approved the red-stripe idea in a recent editorial. "Makes Him No Mind"

Judge Allen is making no outcry because the other judge is appropriating his idea of thus placing a public label of warning upon red-stripe drivers, so that traffic can give the red-stripe cars a wide berth, and officers will stop them to see if whoever is driving such a car has a license to drive.

Judge Allen, in fact, hopes that all other courts will adopt his plan. "If it is a good plan every place it will be a good plan every place," he said today. "Never mind who gets credit for it, the thing is to get it working."

HITLER PLAN GETS BRITISH SUPPORT

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Great Britain and France were understood today to be prepared to recognize in principle Adolf Hitler's rights to colonies in exchange for a German guaranty to subscribe to European security.

At the termination of Anglo-French discussions an authoritative source reported that statesmen of both nations favor solution of the colony question by the creation of an international territorial pool.

Powers holding league of nation mandates would contribute to the pool which would be offered to Hitler for exploitation. However, there must be still considerable study of the proposal, the informant said.

FLEISHACKER OIL SUIT IS RESUMED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Trial of a suit against Herbert Fleishacker, San Francisco banker, over the sale of Kern county oil lands, was resumed today after Fleishacker was rebuffed in a plea for dismissal.

Fleishacker negotiated the sale of the land for the owners, Andrew Lazard and David Cahl. Heirs of the latter are suing for damages on grounds the banker allegedly sold the tract at a low price without informing the owners that it contained oil.

Judge George Cosgrave last week eliminated five co-defendants on grounds the statute of limitations had expired.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Japanese naval forces today seized the America-owned steam tug Failing, hauled down its American flag and threw it into the Whang-poo river.

They also seized two tugs flying Italian flags. It was the first time the Japanese have touched an American flag, although they had bombed points flying that flag.

The American vessel was seized at the Kinlesyan wharf in the French concession. The Japanese removed from the bridgehouse a sign indicating its American ownership, struck members of the Chinese.

MAIL STOLEN FROM ANAHEIM

Three bags of mail were stolen from the Santa Fe railway freight room in Anaheim sometime after 12:30 o'clock this morning, police officials of Anaheim revealed today.

Postal inspectors have been notified and a widespread investigation is under way throughout the Southland.

The mail arrived on the San Diego bound train at 12:30 a. m. and was placed in the freight room. The thieves gained entrance by cutting the bolt holding the freight room door.

Officers believe that the thieves were professionals, pointing out that they ignored 109 five gallon cans and 232 one gallon cans of alcohol. Amateurs would have stolen the alcohol as well as the mail, it was believed.

The mail was placed in the freight room by the crew of the train and the door fastened with a switch lock.

Two of the bags were from Los Angeles and the other from Fullerton. The bags were made up entirely of first class mail.

URGE TRADE CURB ON GRAIN FUTURES

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Dr. J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the commodities exchange administration, recommended today that additional limitations should be placed on trading in grain futures to eliminate "squeeze."

Duvel urged adoption of a rule which would prohibit trading in grain futures during the last 10 days of each delivery month.

The hearing was ordered by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace. Duvel told 150 grain traders that he was called to debate methods of eliminating "congestion" in grain markets.

CIO Group Ends Mass Picketing

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—(UP)—The United Automobile Workers, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate now engaged in what it terms its focal battle with Henry Ford, abandoned mass picketing tactics today in its effort to close the local Ford assembly plant.

The official reason given was that the union did not wish to "irritate" police. Mass picketing on three successive days failed to close the plant, or seriously curtail its production.

Beginning today, the union announced, approximately eight pickets will be assigned to each entrance to the plant while it is in operation.

Georgia Coleman Is Gravely Ill

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—(UP)—Georgia Coleman, former Olympic games diving champion, was reported still gravely ill today in General Hospital.

The famous swimmer was taken to the hospital last week in a relapse following an attack of influenza and suffered a stroke of paralysis affecting her legs and hands. Physicians reported her condition unchanged today.

NAMES LEADER

"There has been too much cheating of each other—too many cards have been dealt under the table. Another 60 days will mean wrecking of the organization and we intend to stay here tonight until something is done."

One Measure Tabled

Opposition to the reorganization group sought to have a resolution, amending by-laws of the assembly to permit the members to declare any office vacant at any time and to hold an immediate election, referred to the committee of resolutions.

The committee previously had recommended adoption of a resolution severing the Costa Mesa district from the Newport Beach district, which was carried. Another resolution to appoint an executive secretary was tabled indefinitely.

Supporters of the reorganization plan opposed referring Head's resolution to the committee on the grounds that the committee had been unauthorized and introduced resolutions that had not been referred to the rank and file of the organization.

The resolution for appointment of an executive secretary was opposed by Head on the grounds that it was "vague and uncertain, made no provision as to how the secretary should be appointed, outlined no duties nor did it state whether or not the secretary should be paid."

He also declared "this is no one man's political organization."

Head Plays Idea

Battling over the resolution amending by-laws to permit the reorganization, were hurled by Head reorganization, charges were hurled by Head that the organization was a "setup for dictatorship" and that things had reached the point where "there are shows of their jobs unless they would come under the thumb of certain people."

Offering his resolution to pave the way for a change, Head declared:

"This is a question that should be settled immediately. Our organization will not grow to the strength it should have unless it is settled. Things have been done in the past 30 days that are a disgrace to the Democratic party and will wreck the party in Orange county unless they are stopped."

Membership Elects

"The setup is not Democratic and the Assembly is not organized the way a Democratic organization should be. An effort was made to settle these things quietly but was not appreciated. The only way to get along is to change the setup and adopt new by-laws as the present set is ambiguous and illogical."

Vote on the resolution was confined to directors of the organization only, on the grounds that last night's meeting was a "director's meeting." Vote on election of new officers, however, was the entire membership.

In addition to Head, the following officers were elected: Claude Puller, Newport Beach, first vice president; Lloyd Varr, Fullerton, second vice president and Harry Bell, Fullerton, was reelected treasurer and Mrs. Mae Geeting, Santa Ana, reelected secretary. Bell resigned as treasurer but his resignation was not accepted. Election of members of the executive committee and new directors was postponed until the January meeting which will be held in Santa Ana.

To Name Committee

Head, within a few days, will appoint five members of a committee to revise the by-laws of the organization, this committee to report at the January meeting.

In his talk, Nelson declared that the business recession now under way had been predicted by all outstanding economists several years ago and is only the "primary depression" that "always marks the beginning of economic recovery."

Nelson also warned that "during the next six months you will see a more determined effort on the part of moneyed interests and the press to discredit President Roosevelt than was made even during the 1936 campaign."

He also declared that "it is a fact that the economic position of the United States is on a more sound basis from a monetary standpoint than at any time since the turn of the century."

EL TORO

EL TORO, Nov. 30.—Carl Waterman, of Buena Park, and Sidney Waterman, of Fullerton, were recent guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Waterman.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bennett entertained relatives recently including Mrs. C. F. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McDonnell, of Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Pay Harvey, of South Gate; Miss Beverly Bennett, of Pomona college.

Mrs. Harvey Swartz and Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens and children, Lois and Willa, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Renshaw in Santa Ana. Miss Ida Swartz, who is employed in Laguna, also joined the party.

Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman were hosts at dinner one evening, guests including Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langley, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cole, all of Santa Ana. Later in the evening, the party attended a dance at the Santa Ana Country club.

the existing highway act. He also will ask that the amendments be enacted at the special session in order that the saving may be effected in the next fiscal year.

Several developments also indicated that everything possible would be done to get action on the proposed housing amendments during the special session.

These developments included: 1. Chairman Henry B. Steagall, D. Ala., of the house banking and currency committee, began public hearings on the federal housing administration amendments with Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald as the first witness.

2. Chairman Robert F. Wagner, D. N. Y., of the senate banking committee, summoned his group to complete plans for starting hearings Wednesday with indications that prominent witnesses would be given an opportunity to discuss the business problem generally. Gerard Swage of General Electric, Gen. Robert E. Wood of Sears-Robuck, Reconstruction Finance Chairman Jesse H. Jones, Federal Reserve Governor Mariner Boodles and Joseph McNamara of New York, president of the American Federation of Labor Building Trades, were mentioned as possible witnesses.

3. Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D. Ky., said he expected a report from the banking committee within a week. He believes it probable that the senate will enact the amendments at the special session although he was uncertain that debate on the farm or anti-lynching bills could be suspended for such action.

4. The Democratic steering committee in the senate was called to meet this morning to fill committee vacancies and otherwise speed legislative action.

DANISH 'CO-OP'
TALK SUBJECT

possible to trace it back and place the blame on the guilty hen!" These flashes of humor brightened her entire talk, although it was an entirely serious one, pointed in many instances by her own personal experiences.

For it is not merely in food supplies, in seed, in banking, that the Scandinavian countries have proven the power and value of co-operation, but in those problems that every country of the world faces—problems of sickness, of unemployment, of old age, health insurance requires from 50 to 75 cents a year from each individual, she stated. Then in case of illness, medical and nursing care is provided free to those below a certain fixed income, and at a rate that seems phenomenally low to those above that income.

Unemployment insurance is handled equally well, although since the country is well unionized, each union takes care of its own unemployment problems, with the government raising an equal sum. Old age insurance is so arranged that at the age of 65, each individual receives a "sustaining income," with no suggestion of charity involved.

Taxes are higher than our own, she explained, but the luxuries are the most highly taxed. The proportion of automobiles is one to every 30 people. On the contrary, 85 per cent of the farm homes have electric light and power as opposed to 15 per cent in this country.

"In order to meet these demands, the Scandinavian countries have had to yield many things," she stated. "They cannot support the standing armies, the materials for war, that other nations have. But it is their belief that one nation cannot solve unaided, the problems of war, and that countries of good will shall stand together. It is their hope that this opinion will in time, be adopted by the whole world, organized to prevent international rioting and warfare."

"They believe that nations should not rush madly into warlike settlement of trouble any more than a whole community should drop its interest in education and police force in handling such affairs as burglary and similar misdemeanors."

"It is such little kingdoms that are keeping on the straight road to pure democracy."

COMPROMISE ON

ministrator E. R. Abby, requested the probe of charges published in a newspaper other than The Register, and attributed to Supervisor N. E. West. The charges dealt with West's asserted threat to have the grand jury investigate failure of the officials to turn in fees as required by the new salary ordinance. The district attorney has ruled that the fee provision of the ordinance is illegal and invalid.

Stephenson today proposed a compromise "to avoid a law suit" over the fees, which he pointed out would cost the winner, no matter which side won, as much as the amount of fees involved. His proposal, briefly, was that he retain fees for inheritance tax work performed up to October 25, the date the ordinance became effective, whether he had collected the fees or not by that date. The county would take all fees on estate work originating after October 25, besides all other treasurer's commissions, including the one-per cent commission allowed him by state law for handling funds of the public administrator.

Stephenson's proposal was based on the promise that the supervisors would contest Menton's ruling on fees, and seek to force the officials to turn in their fees. If no contest was made, and other officials were allowed to retain their fees, Stephenson's agreement would not apply, he stipulated.

The supervisors asked Menton's ruling on the three phases of the salary ordinance, after Highway Superintendent A. A. Beard had asked for interpretation of the sick-leave clause. The clause states that there shall be deduction from salary of any employee absent from duty more than 15 days, either on vacation or because of illness. A road employee, B. Crockett, had requested 15 days sick leave, and wanted to know whether that meant he would not get his vacation, Beard said. The board decided to get official ruling from the district attorney on all points of the ordinance questioned.

Menton already has given the board a ruling that the finance applied to the October payroll, and has advised the county auditor that the fee clause is invalid.

Warbling Siren So Old It Explodes

FREMONT, Neb.—(UP)—Fremont's "warbling" fire siren, in use since 1885, will "warble" no more. Age and increasing steam pressure at the city power plant proved too much, and the whistle burst during a test.

The siren, which would be heard for miles around, had been known as "Old McGinty," a name given it in the days of hand-drawn fire carts. During its life, the whistle was used to summon fire fighters to more than 2000 blazes.

Plans are being made to replace it, but not with a whistle of the "warbling" type. Most "warblers" are constructed for low steam pressure, and the Fremont plant's pressure is now too high.

Consul Protests

It was understood that United States Consul General C. E. Gauss registered a strong protest with Japanese authorities after which he made a formal report to the State Department in Washington.

It was understood that the Italian embassy also protested to the Japanese authorities who promised an investigation.

The Japanese towed the Italian and American tugs past the United States cruiser Augusta and the Italian warship Monte Cuccolo without incident.

The American tug was the property of the William Hunt interests which were understood to be the largest American investments in China with the exception of telephone and utilities interests. The Hunt interests were said to be greater than the Chinese-owned China Merchants steamship company in which the Hunt company was understood to have purchased control prior to the hostilities.

United States consular authorities regarded the tug legitimate American property.

STATE DEPARTMENT AWAITS INFORMATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(UP)—State Department officials today awaited official advice from Consul General Clarence E. Gauss at Shanghai concerning an alleged insult to the American flag by Japanese naval forces in the Whangpoo river.

Press reports stated Japanese naval forces seized an American-owned steam tug, tore down the American flag and threw it into the river. The State Department has received no official confirmation and officials declined to comment pending receipt of official dispatches.

Action by this government, it appeared, will be determined by nature of the incident, as revealed in official dispatches. Ordinarily governments are quick to protest any action of disrespect to their respective flags, and an act of disrespect by the uniformed forces of another nation is considered much more serious than a similar act by civilian nationals.

Charles W. Hope, regional director for the National Labor Relations Board, presided. He has certified the CIO as collective bargaining agent for the sawmills and the A. F. of L. has rejected his decision.

The A. F. of L. is enforcing a boycott against the mills to paralyze the industry.

Ben T. Osborne, secretary of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, spoke for the A. F. of L. unions.

"There is no room in this country for two major unions any more than there is for two governments," he said. "We contend that the NLRB has no jurisdiction in the fight between unions. The CIO chose this as a battleground and we accept the challenge."

E. B. McGrady, state leader for CIO unions, spoke for his side.

"The A. F. of L. boycott is the only thing preventing peace. It is remarkable that people have submitted to these conditions so long. Ministers spoke in pleading and conciliatory terms. Before they disbanded, late last night, David Robinson of the Inter-Faith Council suggested that three representatives from each labor faction meet with his today. The CIO accepted the plan at once but the A. F. of

"He says 'Every bit, get in here and I'll take you where we can have it out.'"

Wife Shoots Self

"His wife begged him to pay me for my wheat or give it back so I could sell it to some other dealer. I had to have money."

"She told me 'Robideau, if you kill him I want to go too.'"

"I got in the car and he drove until we got out a ways on the road. Then he stopped and said 'Shoot.'"

"I thought he was going to shoot me through the front seat cushion, so I put the gun to his head and shot him. His wife grabbed the gun and pointed it at her stomach, and it went off. She really shot herself."

"The kid was all over my back, and as I pulled his wife into the back seat, my arm swung around and hit the kid on the head."

"Then I drove back to Wheat Basin and put the car in the elevator and closed the doors. I hoped neither the wife nor the kid was hurt bad."

FROM YOUR

Excelsior MILK MAN

A few days ago it was suggested to us by one of our light-sleeping customers that we could improve our service by abandoning our middle-of-the-night delivery and supplanting it with a complete city-wide Sunlight Delivery.

We proceeded to make a survey of our many customers to determine their reaction to the suggested change. We want to thank every one of those contacted for giving this matter their courteous and careful consideration.

The results of the survey show practically an unanimous acceptance of the suggested change.

We, your Excelsior Milk Delivery Men, realize that, try as hard as we might, we cannot entirely eliminate the rattle of empty bottles, the screech of brakes, the sounds of running footsteps on the pavement . . . all so disturbing to the peace and quiet of early morning.

The early morning delivery of milk belongs to the horse and buggy era. It is no longer necessary to deliver milk before breakfast in order that it be in satisfactory condition. Modern production and handling methods insure its quality.

SITTON CITES 'WHAT'S WRONG' AT INSTITUTION

Increase of the county juvenile home staff by two members, a man and a woman, was requested by the county supervisors today by the county probation committee, in a communication intended "to correct erroneous impressions" that there is "something wrong at the juvenile home."

What is wrong at the juvenile home, the supervisors were told by Chairman Albert Sitton and other members of the probation committee who appeared in person, is that the present staff is required to put in such long hours on duty and has so little time of its own, that there is too much turnover in personnel.

"We can't keep employees there under such conditions," said Chairman Sitton. The probation committee requested two additional employees, at a maximum salary of $65 per month each, besides board and room.

"Isn't the salaries, it's the long hours without relief from the constant responsibility of looking after the boys and girls in their charge, that causes our employees to leave," Sitton said.

The committee communication stated that the committee is entirely satisfied with the services of Superintendent Fred Germany, who accompanied the members at today's meeting. T. B. Talbert and R. R. Hays, the latter recently appointed to the committee, also were present. Hays told the board he was distressed to find conditions at the home so crowded.

Supervisor Harry Riley said he felt that the salaries requested for the new employees was "in line" and that he thinks the working hours of the staff should be shortened, and conditions made more pleasant.

Supervisor West stated that in San Bernardino county the average term of detention in the juvenile home for boys and girls was nine days. Sitton said the term was longer here, but that it cost more to send the inmates to the state industrial schools, each such case costing about $35 per month.

A proposal that Superintendent Germany should explain to the board the case of a certain girl, who, according to reports reaching board members, was being kept in the home against the will of her parents, was blocked by objection from Chairman Willard Smith and Supervisor John Mitchell, who said that the circumstances of a juvenile case should not be discussed in open meeting.

Chairman Sitton's suggestion to the board that the juvenile coordinator, when appointed, should be made independent of the probation department, to establish his own responsibility and also because the probation department already is overcrowded, was taken under advisement by the board, together with the request for increased personnel at the juvenile home.

INQUIRIES ON CITY, COUNTY GAIN VOLUME

Despite the fact there temporarily is a small decline in real estate sales, according to Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, the number of new residents and new businesses in Santa Ana and the number of inquiries coming into the chamber offices is on the increase.

"We are receiving an average of 15 inquiries a week on a multitude of subjects concerning the business prospects in Santa Ana and Orange county," Wood said.

"Just this week we have had letters from all points in the west and southwest asking us about business opportunities, climate, population, altitude, and other questions of interest concerning the community.

"It is with pride that we are able to point out to business people and others interested in the community that, from every standpoint, Santa Ana and Orange county, is an ideal place to live," Wood said.

ALL SANTA ANA JOINS IN YULE FESTIVAL PLAN

Colored searchlights, sparkling Christmas trees, brilliant windows, profuse decorations—these are just a few of the preparations being made by the merchants of Santa Ana and the Chamber of Commerce to usher in the holiday season.

In the decorated area, which includes Broadway from First to Fifth streets, Sycamore, from First to Fifth streets, Main street from Second to Seventh streets, and Ross to Spurgeon on Fourth streets, every lamp post will be trimmed with two 12 foot, silver tipped fir trees and lighted with 2 colored lights.

"Window" Contest

Ivie Stein and Phil Brown are in charge of the general arrangements for the decorations and programs, with Howard I. Wood, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and a committee of local business men assisting on the committee.

Kay Francis Suit Under Advisement

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30.—(UP) Federal Judge Paul J. McCormick today took under advisement a motion of attorneys for Warner Brothers' studio to dismiss the suit of Kay Francis, film star, in which she seeks to break her contract on ground the studio failed to give her roles of "superior quality."

Miss Francis, whose contract has three years to run, said Jack Warner, in charge of production, promised to star her in "Tovarich," but instead selected Claudette Colbert for the role.

Allen C. Stelle, who was denied judgment for $650 damages against W. D. Fisk and Frank E. Miller, when he alleged that they converted his furniture to their own use, near Newport Beach, today appealed the case from Justice K. E. Morrison's court, in Santa Ana, to superior court.

INSPECTOR TELLS OF ORANGE TESTS

Testifying to one test for frozen oranges in which the transverse cut only was used, and in which 32 per cent allegedly were found damaged, Inspector Robert T. England surprised spectators at the trial in Judge Charles Kuehl's court in Anaheim yesterday afternoon in which Ed Mills, A. J. Miller and Western Fruit Growers Inc. are charged with violating the state agricultural code.

The defense to date has questioned the manner of cutting the oranges, which they claim should be cut on the transverse only while the inspectors have testified to cutting both on the transverse cut and the end cut.

England testified further to finding packing operations at the Western Fruit Growers packing house concealed by enclosures contrived of field boxes and canvasses. Inspectors Henry T. Walsworth and Roy Black also took the stand yesterday afternoon. In each of the three cases the ability to do such inspecting was questioned by the defense.

THREE ASK DIVORCES

BAD CHECK CASE NEARS CLIMAX

After extradition papers are obtained from Governor Frank Merriam, Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach will leave today by train for Tucson, Ariz., to return John J. Madden, 28, alleged fictitious check writer who operated here for several days recently.

Madden, apprehended by Police Chief C. A. Wollard, Tucson, refused to return to Santa Ana voluntarily, for prosecution, and it was necessary to order extradition. Records show Madden, after living her a week, on November 20, absconded with a $32.08 fictitious check to Wayne Hofer at the service station, 1501 South Main. He also is blamed for issuance of a $34.09 fictitious check to the Turner Radio company, 221 West Fourth, in purchase of a radio, and one for $58.18 to Jerry Hall, 118 North Main, in purchase of an auto radio.

He also is wanted in connection with issuance of two or three fictitious checks in Anaheim, the officer reported.

"Listen, Doctor, we're afraid he has swallowed the page that tells what to do if he should swallow something."

MAY HAVE BEEN COLD "THERE," BUT NOT HERE, SAYS BISHOP

"There is no more need for smudging in this type of weather, at night, than there was last July."

That was the statement of Roy K. Bishop, of the county agricultural department today, following dispatches from Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties which showed the temperature in some isolated areas of those counties reached 31 degrees, one degree below freezing.

"Not Caught Napping"

While reports also declared some spots in Orange county registered as low as 31, Bishop declared his office obtained no such figure anywhere in the county. Yesterday was even milder than this morning at 6 a. m., when the temperature was the lowest, 40. Yesterday, it was about 45, Bishop said. The Jaycee station gave 45 as the lowest in the last 24 hours.

However, county citrus ranchers were not to be caught "napping," according to reports which show many are getting their smudges pots set up and in readiness for action when and if necessary.

"No smudging has been advised to date," said Floyd Young, federal frost forecaster whose headquarters are in Pomona. "As far as I know, there has been none."

The paternal grandparents are Will D. Candee, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Brown, all of Los Angeles. Candee, a citrus dehydrator by profession, formerly resided in Anaheim.

A Stanton Japanese woman whose family has been greatly worried over her health since she suffered nervous break-down recently, was saved from death by suicide last night by ambulance drivers who gave first aid, then made a successful hunt for the poison bottle to determine what poison had been used, it was reported.

The woman took the poison outside of a Stanton grocery store, tossing the poison bottle aside. W. H. Smith, manager of the Orange County Ambulance service, and his assistant, Purdie Sherron, responded to the call for help, administered milk, mustard, sugar and water, the antidote, then, while Dr. J. W. Truxaw worked over her, made a thorough search of the neighborhood.

They found a bottle, gave proper treatment for strychnine poisoning, and the woman was recovering today at Anaheim Sanitarium.

CONVICT KNIFE WOUND SERIOUS

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Nov. 30.—(UP)—Peter Ablog, 25-year-old Filipino, was in serious condition in the prison hospital today as the result of a stab wound inflicted by Paul Amara, 26, another Filipino with whom he has carried on a long prison feud.

Ablog was cut about the head, arms and chest in the encounter, the third between the pair. The attack took place in the prison yard with hundreds of other convicts as witnesses.

Amara used a pocket knife with a three-inch blade.

In March, 1935, Ablog attacked Amara with a knife and in December of the same year Amara retaliated by slashing Ablog with shears.

Ablog was sentenced from Sacramento to serve eight years for assault with a deadly weapon while Amara was sentenced from Santa Barbara to 20 years for robbery.

NOSE BROKEN, HE ACCUSES ATTACKER

G. E. Brice, 305 French street, who came to city police last night with the complaint that a red-headed man had broken Brice's nose in a fight, started by the red-head, agreed to sign a warrant of arrest today.

Brice, finding Officers L. H. Nicholson and Daniel M. Jones at Fourth and French, went with them to a local restaurant where he pointed to C. C. Lewis, 408 Spruon, naming him as the alleged attacker. The officers questioned Lewis, released him, and advised Brice to come to police headquarters today if he still wished to sign a complaint.

SPORTS WHIRLIGIG

Confidential: If the Dons win from San Bernardino Friday night, Los Angeles has expressed a willingness to shift to the Municipal Bowl the Southern California jaycee championship game. Reason: Gate receipts, Los Angeles (Western division winner) has not made known its attitude in case San Bernardino wins.

Sharkey Plumlee of the Huntington Beach News reports that Jose Rodgers and Pitcher Jim Coates have been breaking bread together lately, leading Columbian Plumlee to surmise that the Oiler softball manager wants Sir Jim in a Huntington Beach role next summer. "Of course," comments Plumlee, "there's a little matter of a contract between Coates and Santa Ana, but we don't recall when the more aggressive managers have paid any attention to contracts and agreements."

Well, let's don't cross bridges before we get there, but... it looks like grief ahead for the National Night league.

CONFIDENTIAL: Coach Bill Cook rates John Joseph, freshman end, as the best he's coached in his time at Santa Ana jaycee, and that's going on 11 years, huh.

Coach "Shorty" Reed of Newport Harbor Hi touts his man Glen Thompson as the most valuable man in the Sunset league. Thompson is a 17-year-old senior; weight 160 pounds.

"He was by far the best signal caller in the conference," declares Reed, "and the best in Harbor's short history. Smart and inspiring. We won every game he was in, and he scored on every opponent and engineered every drive. Does our punting and passing."

Are you listenin' Bill Cook? CONFIDENTIAL: The real reason San Bernardino wouldn't go into the Rose Bowl was that it has a "mad on" at Pasadena. Seems the Indians played strong before a tremendous throng early this season, but the payoff was a chicken-feed. Rather than bicker with the Pasadena people again, San Bernardino preferred to move the game into the Municipal Bowl here.

Wedding bells are ringing for Roger Larimer, Orange high ball flogger. The bride is Ava Moore of Orange. He's 22, she's 20.

CONFIDENTIAL: That so-called All-Southern California Board of Football, which named only two Dons on the Eastern conference all-star eleven, was picked by a committee of Los Angeles sports writers. Only one game this year. None saw a Citrus Belt league game.

Bill Foote and Clarence Schutte, coaches of the two high school teams (Santa Ana and Santa Barbara) that mix in the Southern C.I.F. semi-finals here, Saturday, will field non-competitors in their rah-rah days at the University of Minnesota.

CONFIDENTIAL: Baseball WILL be a sport in the Citrus Belt league next spring, after all. Four schools—Santa Ana, San Bernardino, Pomona and Riverside—will field non-competitors. It will be the C.B.L.'s first diamond season in years.

Business Manager John Wilcox of Santa Ana's night ball Stars, is so ill at his residence on Hickory street that he no longer is allowed visitors. Pleures and complications. The National league's No. 1 master of diplomacy will come through O. K.; he's won tougher fights than this one.

CONFIDENTIAL: A Huntington Beach oil refinery purchased $50 radios for each member of the Oilers. They served as place-cards at the club's banquet.

Jaycee bigwigs are praying for a Santa Ana wind, or something that will clear up the longest stretch of foggy nights in memory. Otherwise Friday's "giant-ic" with San Bernardino will be a bust, the outcome decided by weight rather than skill. On the other hand, officials say it won't rain as long as it's foggy, so what the heck? ... Official's doubt if Friday's game will outdraw the Don-Fullerton Thanksgiving Day struggle, yet the advance sale has been brisker. Furthermore, a block of 1938 tickets has been distributed to San Bernardino, and a big section on the east side of the field will be reserved for the Islanders. Four fans I heard about are going to the Bowl at 4 and play bridge until game time.

STANFORD-CAL. STAG DINNER POSTPONED

Because moving pictures of the "Big Game" will not be available until next week, the annual joint California-Stanford alumni stag dinner has been postponed until next Tuesday night, John Lutz, Golden Bear alumnus, announced today.

The meeting will be held at the Santa Ana Country club at 7 o'clock, all alumni of the two colleges being invited. Pictures of the "Big Game" will be shown in low motion.

FOLLOW TROJANS

Twenty-five newboys from a Los Angeles newspaper were given the thrill of their lives when they were taken to the game between the Southern California Trojans and Notre Dame at South Bend on one of the new high-speed trains.

Many Players On Block As Ball Men Gather

MEDWICK DEAL OFF: TRADING TO BE BRISK

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

MILWAUKEE — The nation's baseball leaders from coast to coast—nearly 800 of them—gathered today for the opening of the 36th annual minor league meeting tomorrow.

Every major league club also sent representatives, hoping to make deals during the 3-day convention or lay the groundwork for trades which will be completed at the major league meetings in Chicago next week.

One of the hottest reports—that Joe Medwick, the National league's most valuable player had been placed on the market—apparently subsided. Most National league officials branded the story that Medwick already has been traded to the Giants as ridiculous. The deal supposedly was to trade Mel Ott, Hal Schumacher and Gus Mancuso for Medwick.

There were indications that several clubs would engage in lively bartering during the next 10 days. The four clubs with new managers—St. Louis Browns (Gabby Street), Boston Bees (Casey Stengel), Cincinnati Reds (Bill McKechnie) and Cleveland Indians (Oscar Vitt)—were certain to make shakeups.

It appeared the following players were among the others on the trading block:

National league—Van Mungo, Brooklyn; Billy Jurges, Cubs; Paul Waner, Pittsburgh; Hall Schumacher, Giants; Paul Derringer, Gene Schott and Al Hollingsworth, Reds.

American league—Harland Clift, Rollie Hemsley and Joe Vosmik, Browns; Earl Averill, Cleveland; "Sugar" Cain and John Whitehead, White Sox; Al Simmons, "Buddy" Myer and Joe Kuhel, Washington; Marvin Owen, Detroit, Bill Werber, Athletics.

Brisk activities among the minor league clubs were expected to get under way today.

The first session of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, official name of the Minor leagues is scheduled for tomorrow.

MONTAGUE ASKS TO HAVE NAME CHANGED

HOLLYWOOD—The burly golfer of prodigious feats known on the film colony links as John (Monty) Montague sought today to adopt the name legally.

Montague, christened LaVerne Matthew Moore, said in a court petition that his adopted name has become of "Great sentimental and business value" during the last seven years that he has been using it here. Hearing on the plea was set for Jan. 6 in superior court.

The golfer used garden tools as clubs to win a game from Bing Crosby some months ago and the results, publicity and money made him as Moore, wanted for a New York state robbery. He has just returned to Hollywood under undergoing trial in the east and being acquitted.

Schmeling Asked For Warm-Up; Thomas May Give Him One

Harry Thomas makes hay while the sun shines on a golden opportunity—a 15-round match with Max Schmeling at Madison Square garden, Dec. 13. Thomas takes time off from piling logs to spar with his brother, Joe Pontius, on their parents' farm near Eagle Bend, Minn., where the blond engineer did his preliminary training. An unruly calf also gives Schmeling's opponent a highly satisfactory workout. The Minnesota heavy hopped from a locomotive cabin to the ring.

MICH. STATE ACCEPTS BID

MIAMI, Fla.—Michigan State was selected today to represent the North in the annual Orange Bowl football game here New Year's Day.

The Orange Bowl committee announced selection of the Northern team after Charley Bachman, Michigan State coach, advised that the invitation had been accepted.

Southern teams under consideration include Auburn, North Carolina, Rice and Georgia Tech.

Michigan State will come to the Orange Bowl contest with a season record of eight victories and one defeat.

COLORADO U. ACCEPTS COTTON BOWL BID

DALLAS, Tex.—Selection of a Southwest conference football team to oppose the University of Colorado in the Cotton Bowl game here on New Year's Day rested between Rice Institute and Texas Christian University.

J. Curtis Sanford, financial backer of the Cotton Bowl game, and one-man committee of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association, awaited the outcome of the game Saturday between Rice and Southern Methodist university before issuing an invitation.

He received Colorado's acceptance last night in a telephone conversation with Gov. Teller Ammons of Colorado.

Fullerton's Hoop Prospects Bright

FULLERTON—Coach Arthur L. (Lucky) Nunn looked forward to another Southern California basketball championship today after sending his Fullerton Jaycee through its first formal workout of the season yesterday.

Nunn's basketball teams have always been in the thick of the Eastern conference championship race since Santa Ana and Fullerton were realigned in 1931.

This year's aggregation stacks up even better than last year's Southern California championship five and the 1935 title-winning quintet. This year's club may even surpass the 1933 sharpshooters who shared the championship with Long Beach.

In 1932 the Yellowjackets were runners-up to Chaffey after a four-way playoff for the title. In 1935 Riverside's Bengals nozed them out.

Andy Eckle, towering forward; Walt Kelley, a freshman from Newport Harbor; Eddie (Sails) Harker, from last year's high school team; and Archie Baker and Earl Allison, veteran guards, complete Nunn's skyscraping sharpshooters.

Of this contingent, Allison is the smallest. He's a mere six-footer.

Bill Blackledge, 6-foot Eugene, Osa, youngster, and Tom Keesey, late of York, Pa., give Nunn a capable pair of reserve forwards, while Regus Eckle, 5-11 center from last year, and Jim Stacey, Bowling Green, O., six-footer, and Homer Joiner, also of York, complete another towering five.

Tom Sepulveda, 5-11 Whittier forward, is expected to make some of the big boys hustle for their berths as are Eddie Miller and Jack McHenry, lettermen, who at present are easily outclassed by the towering importations.

So impressive is the outlook that Nunn has booked a barnstorming tour of the San Francisco region and scheduled games with most of the ranking club and college teams.

Dream Comes True; Henry In Hollywood

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD—At long last, my dream has come true—I am in Hollywood!

I have dreamed of coming here ever since that Fourth of July day, years ago, when I played Uncle Sam in the fourth grade pageant. I won the admiration and acclaim of all the critics that way by keeping my beard stuck on longer than any of the Uncle Sams who had trod the boards before me in this grade school classic. All the praise for my performance, and the admiring glances bestowed on my star-spangled pants, did not go to my head. It only increased my determination to make an actor of myself.

I followed the strenuous patriotic role, with its demand for a complete knowledge of all the verses of America, with a stirring success as a minor prophet in a Christmas pageant. Again my beard stayed on nearly to the end. Later, in high school, I was urged by the D and P teacher (dramatics and paintings) to handle the difficult role of one of the sailors in Pinafore, but measles prevented my acceptance.

I tell you these things not in a bragging way, but that you may know that I come to Hollywood, not as an outsider, but as a fellow craftsman. Today I was up with the dawn to play the Hollywood game—trying to spot movie actors and actresses as I walked up and down the streets, peering into strange faces. Ten o'clock came and all the luck I had was to see a police dog puppy which greatly resembled the canine Barrymore, that kennel Mimi, Rin Tin Tin.

Then I turned a corner and saw an immense crowd, packing streets and sidewalks so that it was almost impossible for me to make my way through to a vantage point on the curbing. My heart leapt. I knew that a great star was about to appear. "All of Hollywood!"

As I walked home it made me a little sad to know that the stage was lost to me forever. I thought bitterly of that attack of measles which ended my histrionic career and prevented me from playing the role which would have made or broken me—that of Rip Van Winkle.

REVEAL BOWIE RACE SPONGING

By HARRY GRAYSON
(Sports Editor, NSA Service)

NEW YORK—Because he is a swinging puncher like Max Baer, some of the boys have an idea that Harry Thomas may stir up some trouble for Max Schmeling in what generally is expected to be nothing more than a warm-up for the ex-champion at the Garden, Dec. 13.

It will be recalled that Baer, bringing roaring roundhouse blows via the Holland Tunnel, smacked Schmeling all over the place and stopped him in 10 rounds one scorching June night in 1933.

The man warning Schmeling in sternest tone is Jack Hurley, who managed Thomas for a spell. Hurley is the chap who brought out Billy Petrolle, the old Fargo Express, and is a pugilistic prognosticator of some repute.

Among other things, and while Schmeling's staunchest admirers were feeling sorry for him, Hurley was telling the cockeyed world that the Pretzel Pounder would belt Joe Louis all the way back to the Buckleups.

Hurley also predicted that Jim Braddock would treat Louis similarly. The Dakota cauliflower dealer was wrong on that occasion, but the error can be traced to the fact that he'd made Freddie Bartholomew a favorite over Louis, so little does he think of the Brown Bomber.

LOS ANGELES—Pittsburgh, with a record marred only by a tie with the powerful Fordham Rams, held a mythical National football championship today by an overwhelming margin in the final Deke Houligate ratings.

The Panthers led second-place Alabama by 8.5 points for a total of 34.5. Fordham moved into third place with 24.5, followed by Dartmouth with 22.5. Villanova and California took fifth and sixth.

Yale, with the same numerical rating as California, was seventh because of a defeat by Harvard.

The weekly Houligate ratings, based on opponent strength and decisiveness of victory, were completed after last week's games. Other teams among the first 15 were Holy Cross eighth, Notre Dame ninth, Nebraska 10th, North Carolina 11th, Louisiana State 12th, Duke 13th, Santa Clara 14th, and Vanderbilt 15th.

WILLOWICK WOMEN LOSE LEAGUE LEAD

Willowick Golf club's ambition for a Women's South Coast Public Links association championship drooped today, following the Santa Ana team's 8-1-2 to 31-2 defeat by Whittier here yesterday.

Long Beach moved into first place by defeating Huntington Beach, 10-1-2 to 11-2.

Summary: Mrs. M. Burkhardt and Mrs. T. McClurkin (Whittier) 3 points; Mrs. Chas. Chapman and Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth (Willowick) 6; Mrs. Rollie Wodgett and Ben Livezey (Willowick) 2; Mrs. F. Rader and Mrs. C. Foster (Whittier) 1; Mrs. Ludy Schaffer and Mrs. P. Hooven (Willowick) 14; Mrs. Jack Potts and Mrs. C. Koontz (Whittier) 14.

Mrs. C. Rowe and Mrs. L. Little (Whittier) 3; Mrs. Sidney Harris and Mrs. Ed. Chapman (Willowick) 6.

War Admiral Nominated In Widener Race

MIAMI, Fla.—War Admiral today headed the list of 78 thoroughbred nominees for the $50,000 Widener Handicap at Hialeah Park March 5.

War Admiral, Samuel D. Riddle's brilliant three-year-old champion, also is entered in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, scheduled for the same day.

'NOTHING TO REPORT' SAYS CAL. MANAGER

BERKELEY—Kenneth Priestly, University of California graduate manager, said today he was sorry, but he still had no announcement to make concerning an Eastern Rose Bowl opponent for California's Golden Bears.

Choice of a football team for the Pasadena classic appeared no nearer than selection of a Rhett Butler for "Gone With the Wind."

"Experts" speculated that Alabama and Fordham probably held the inside track, following self-elimination of Pittsburgh, with Dartmouth, Minnesota, Yale or Nebraska possibly following in about that order.

"Nothing to report today," said Priestly, good-humoredly. "No, I don't know when we will be able to make an announcement. Everything is the same as it was yesterday."

Priestly would not comment on the suggestion that an invitation had already been extended and the university was awaiting an answer from the invited team.

Fordham would be a new face in the Pasadena classic and Jimmy Crowley, the Notre Dame alumnus who is earnestly wooing a bid for the trip from Rose Hill to Rose Bowl, has a team that would give the Californians a battle.

Alabama is a familiar figure in the New Year's Day game, and the 1937 team rates right up with the other "Bama" teams, none of which ever lost in the Rose Bowl.

There was a possibility of course, that a "dark horse" might be chosen. Stanford reached into this field three years ago in hiding Columbia and took a surprise licking for its gesture.

Possible dark horses discussed here included Dartmouth Green Indians, champions of the Ivy league, and Minnesota, the Big Ten champion. Advances from the east, however, indicate that Dartmouth did not want the game and the Big Ten conference wouldn't let the Gophers come out. Duke also was out because of conference opposition.

PITT DENIES PLAYERS DEMANDED MONEY

PITTSBURGH—The Pitt Panther football team made no "demands for money or vacation" on officials of the University of Pittsburgh when the 17 players reported a possible Rose Bowl bid or any other post-season football invitation, it was announced today.

In the face of rumors the players had sought spending money before they would make the trip to a football "Bowl" classic, John Weber, business manager and Assistant to Chancellor John G. Bowman, said the players made that together yesterday to sound out on a post-season game.

Some members of the team also denied reports that their rejection of Bowl bids was based on a desire to share in the profits.

Previously, the players had shown little enthusiasm for the Rose Bowl game as early as a week ago, the senior members said they were tired of football and were satisfied with their season's record of 9 victories and a scoreless tie with Fordham.

SCHMELING TO BE BOYCOTTED BY ANTI-NAZIS

NEW YORK—The Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi league announced today that it would enforce its boycott against Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, in all his American fights unless he agrees not to take his earnings back to Germany.

Samuel Untermyer, league president, made the announcement in response to a plea from Mike Jacobs, who has a promotional interest in Schmeling's fights in this country. Jacobs sought to have the boycott removed from the German fight against Harry Thomas here Dec. 13, on the grounds that it had been booked to condition him for the Joe Louis title bout and not to earn money.

"We are seeking," Untermyer wrote Jacobs, "merely to prevent this bout, or the subsequent fight, from being the medium of transporting money of a German citizen to Germany in violation of the boycott."

Sport Nuggets by John Neubauer

FULLERTON — Superintendent Louis Plummer emphatically denied an assertion that the Fullerton Junior college administration was not co-operating with Yellowjacket athletics.

After a personal investigation, Plummer found that John Melton, dusky Hornet line man, earned $44.40 from the school and $2.75 from the student body, while Aubrey Minter, scintillating Negro back, received $47.70 from the institution and 60 cents from the student body.

Both youths' checks were for the pay days of Sept. 15 and Oct. 15 and therefore must have included work done during the summer recess.

The administrator admitted that the boys were in dire financial straits, but said this was beyond control of the school.

"The boys paid quite a sum of money for rent," he said as he explained the boys' difficulties. "One of the boys borrowed a small sum from me. He later repaid the loan when he received his check."

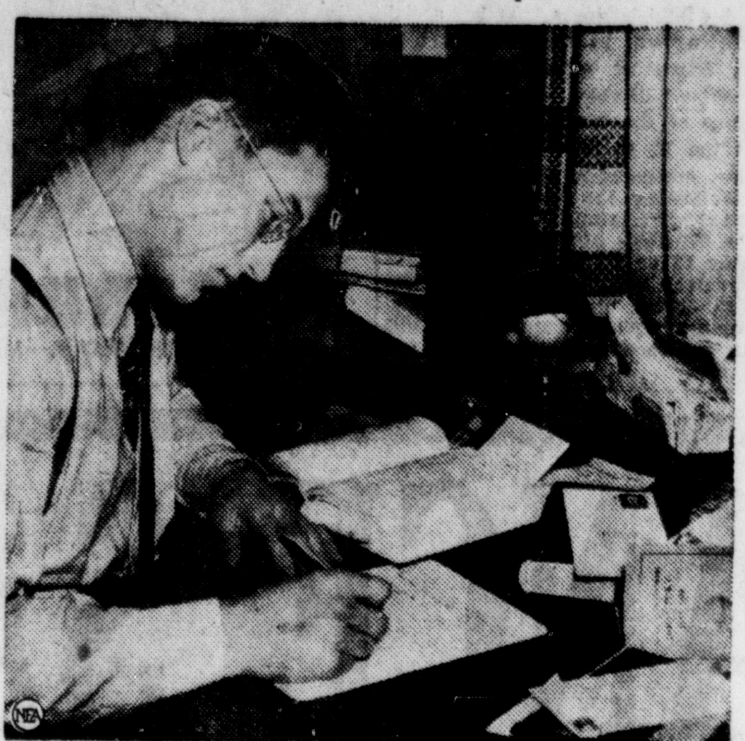

Although Plummer did not present the amount of the other boys' paychecks (mentioned in a previous column) he explained that California is a bonanza for out-of-state students, as they receive their education almost for nothing.

The board of trustees discussed the matter concerning 72 students attending the college from other states early this year. They decided not to discriminate against these and give them work wherever it was needed.

My personal investigation among these students, many of which are athletes, I find that they are not too well off financially. The two boys mentioned in a previous column reported that they were getting in the neighborhood of $5 to $6 from the school.

Both of these lads are working for their meals in downtown eating emporiums, so their plight is not as bad as it might otherwise be.

Whiz In Classroom, Too

"Whizzer" White of Colorado University is rated by many as the year's No. 1 back. "Whizzer" is also a whiz in the classroom. Already he's made Phi Beta Kappa, and a Rhodes scholarship awaits him. Here's the Rocky Mountain touchdown terror burning the midnight oil. Doesn't look like a footballer, maybe, but he's a marvel.

A row between Joe Engel of Chattanooga and Tom Watkins of Memphis is headed for Judge Landis and may end in House Nights. Automobile Night, and whatnot is the minor, which would be a good thing. . . . Night baseball is all right, but when the professional game no longer can stand on its own pins it is high time for the noble athletes to seek reinstatement as amateurs. . . . Engel gave away a house and lot, washing machines, and all sorts of prizes to attract a record crowd to Engel Stadium in 1936. . . . He says Watkins agreed to share in the expense. . . . Consequently, $1050 was deducted from the Chicks' share. But when the Look-out appeared in Memphis this year, Watkins is alleged to have withheld the $1050 Engel took out last season. . . . With Wade Kilfer switching from Indianapolis to Hollywood to manage that new club of the Pacific Coast League, Babe Ruth once more finds himself on the outside looking in. . . . A movie group interested in Ruth planned to purchase the Mission outfit of San Francisco, the franchise of which is being transferred, and the Baltimore was receptive. . . . But the flicks' folks' deal fell through, and with it the old home run manufacturer.

SAINTS DROVE AGAIN AFTER DAY OF QUIET

Coach Bill Cook believes that Santa Ana and San Bernardino are so evenly matched that, in the final analysis, the choice of plays is likely to decide Friday night's Eastern Junior College conference championship game in the Municipal Bowl.

"Quarterbacking will tell the final story," said Cook, who suggests that the now celebrated "rematch" will be a battle of wits between Blase Mercurio, Oliver McCarter and Mac Beall of the Dons and Avery Monfort, Bobby Templeton and Bill Matthe of the Indians.

To this end, Coach Cook will work diligently with his signal-caller (and blockers) every day that remains between now and Friday. The "Man in Bronze" believes his hard-cracking line men, from end to end, will be able to cope with anything Coach Douglas Smythe sends against them.

He concedes that San Bernardino's line will be hard to push around, too.

"Quarterbacking and blocking will win or lose the game," observed Cook. "I'm satisfied our ends and a secondary will turn a better defensive performance than they did against San Bernardino in our first engagement. I'm hoping our quarterbacks put their think-tanks to use Friday."

Meanwhile, Coach Cook took occasion to blast a San Bernardino forward, Santa Ana's FORCED San Bernardino to bring the "rematch" here. Cook says he and Smythe flipped for the field. Smythe won the toss, and voluntarily elected to play the contest in the Bowl.

The Dons scrimmaged lightly yesterday, the squad appearing in good shape except for Center Don Boyd, who is still favoring two bruised ribs, and "Pancho" Forster, tackle, who is on crutches because of an ankle sprain, and is not likely to see action Friday.

BOWIE, Md.—Stewards at the Bowie track today ordered examination of entries in all races while Maryland and track detectives sought two men believed responsible for "sponging" of the horses entered in yesterday's events.

The drive against horse tampering began after stewards removed sponges from nostrils of Master Lad and White Sand yesterday, both owned by W. E. Johnson and trained by C. P. Miles Jr.

The veteran campaigner Master Lad, scratched from the sixth race yesterday after discovery of the sponge, was entered in the fourth event today. The gelding's nostril may have been injured, however, and he was to undergo examination to determine whether he will be in condition.

HOLLYWOOD—THE LINGO OF radio, like the famed chant of a year ago, goes round and round and comes out almost any old thing. As yet we have no definite school of production in this Time will cement the loose phraseology into a universal radio language. We must not forget that the broadcasting business is still young.

However, there are a number of who have a general acceptance. Step into a rehearsal hall and you'll probably hear a director say, "Now in this spot we'll have to have a little 'white stuff'."

This request has been addressed to the orchestra leader. Later on, more apt than not, the fellow with the baton will also be asked to give forth with some "red," "blue" and "green" music.

Does the music-man look puzzled? He does not. Radio rehearsals are no novelty to him, and he knows what's wanted.

The uninitiated might don a blank mask on hearing the sound effects man instructed to "wash a typewriter with a sharp phone call," which, my friends, has nothing to do with soap and water. Mr. Soundman knows that the noise of a typewriter must be slowly faded from the microphone, and a lively telephone ring cutting in.

While this is going on we find our orchestra leader instructing his men to play some bright, happy music for the "white stuff." "Red" music is sad and gloomy. For mysterious effects, "green" music is the order of the day.

Other musical terms that might mystify the layman, but make perfect good sense to production men, are "rip" and "scream chords." A "rip" is a rapid glissando on all the instruments of the orchestra. This is to introduce a breath-taking sequence in the script.

A "scream chord" is an easy one to guess. It is a scoring of the brass instruments to simulate the human voice. It follows the actual scream and is played above the normal register. It is used to intensify the scream and to act as a transition from this to another scene.

And so radio goes on, building a language all its own. Some day, when the growing pains have subsided, we'll publish a glossary for the business.

Program Parade . . . notes

Bob Crosby's Dance Band bows out of the Palomar in Los Angeles to make way for Jan Garber's well-known crew of rhythm makers tomorrow night.

Brother Bing and Connie Boswell will join in a gala farewell tribute to the younger Crosby. (KNX, 10:45.)

Hollywood's Magic Isle has Edward Everett Horton as the guest star. Ruby Mercer will be initiated as a regular cast member, having made good with all the studio relatives of the sponsor.

Larry Ross, Charlie Butterworth and Raymond Fiske's orchestra and chorus will be heard as usual. (KFI, 6:30.)

Meet Your Neighbor will dramatize a story of real friendship with San Francisco's famous Fisherman's Wharf as the setting.

Ira Blue's contribution to the half-hour show will be a story about Frank Cavanaugh, football coach at Fordham University in the early 30's. Larry Keating emcees. (KBCA, 9:30.)

The broadcast I like to hear on Tuesdays is Columbia's "Art of Conversation." Its informal, spontaneous flow of conversation is like inviting friends of long standing to share your fireside and discuss anything and everything under the sun. (KNX, 10:15.)

Dis & Data . . . star gazing
A notation for your date book: Mae West's scheduled appearance with Charlie McCarthy December 12, 1937.

Kate Smith, no lightweight, is an excellent tap dancer. Efficient business men are Amos and Andy. Edgar Bergen (you know, Charlie McCarthy's stooge) and Morgan. All keep regular office hours.

If Bob Burns ever wants to know how many times he has been on the air in the Music Hall, all he has to do is to count the number of dents in the stage floor. At the end of each, bazooka solo, Bob throws the gas-pipe contraption into the air and lets it fall on the heavy linoleum floor. There's a dent in the floor for each smash of the bazooka.

Add hobby addicts: Ted Flo-Rio, who reads everything on the subject of medicine he can lay his hands on.

Rudy Vallee's secret fear is that some day he may become fat and bald.

TABBY LIVES LITTLE WHITE LIE AFTER MINNIE, LITTLE WHITE RAT, SAYS "GOOMBYE"

BY MALCOLM BOSTWICK

It was death in the afternoon which resulted in mingling of awesome mystery and high-toned horror at the domicile of Sue and Juddy Hynds, children of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. (Bill) Hynds, 1230 South Sycamore street, today.

For their little white rat, Minnie, who was bumped off. It happened last August. While at play with a tiny visitor from the east, Mickey accidentally was clouted on the head with a hammer. Mickey never regained consciousness long enough to talk. He was another case of death in the afternoon. And no matter if the law does say those are innocent until proved guilty, Sue next white rat, a warning not to trust Tabby at all!

Chickens Chummy, Too!
Tabby belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Fowler, 1228 South Sycamore, neighbors of the Hynds, and has her home beneath a lumber pile in the back yard. For six months, Minnie, Tabby, a black and white cocker spaniel dog, popular and well-known Santa Ana dog belonging to the Fowlers—and the Fowler chickens have been chummy together! Yes, actually.

Minnie, given a box-pen in the Hynds garage, for a home, always managed to squirm out. Hynds, employee of the Hill & Hill store, explained. And Minnie always headed straight for the lumber pile and her pals.

Now, Minnie's gone. Probably no one will ever know whether Tabby, getting meat hungry and reverting to type, slew her best pal. Or whether some dastardly Tom Cat sneaked over in the early afternoon and lay in wait for Minnie. Anyhow, Tabby won't talk.

He, Too, Bumped Off
"I think Minnie was awfully foolish to trust that Tabby, any way!" little Sue exclaimed. Oh, yes, and Mickey—he's the principal of another stark tragedy.

DICK FORAN SINGS IN FILM THRILLER

The hard-hitting, fast-shooting six-foot singing cowboy, Dick Foran, makes another appearance Friday and Saturday at the State in "Empty Holsters." Western thriller, while an unusually fine program of shorts is added.

Not only the acting ability of Dick Foran, young Warner Bros. star, but his splendid baritone voice as well, has won his increasing popularity, and "Empty Holsters" proves to be one of the best pictures he has ever done.

Dick sings two ballads of the range "Old Corral" and "I Gotta Get Back to My Gal"—and does them very pleasingly.

But the songs are merely incidental to a fast-stepping, genuinely thrilling action drama of the Old West in which Dick, after being persecuted and even imprisoned two years by the gold-stealing villains of the plot, gets free, clears himself and brings the vengeance of the law upon the miscreants.

A triumphant debut is made by Patricia Walthall, 19-year-old daughter of the late Henry B. Walthall, we became one of the immortals of the screen by his performance as the "Little Colonel" in David W. Griffith's great picture, "Birth of a Nation."

'NAIL' THAT COLD!

Check It Fast With This Four-Way Treatment!

Treat a cold to end it, not to coddle it! Many a cold lightly treated turns into something worse. Hit a cold "where it lives"—in the system! That means to take an internal treatment. Hit it with a cold medicine, not with a preparation good for all kinds of ailments. Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are the treatment you want. Made for Colds and Colds Alone! First of all, they are cold tablets, made expressly for colds. Second, they are internal medication and of fourfold effect. Here's what they do: First, they open the bowels. Second, they check the infection in the system. Third, they relieve the headache and fever. Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack. Bromo Quinine tablets are nothing new or untried. They have been on the market for over 40 years and have proven their worth. Be Prudent! Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. Both kinds are sold by all druggists, a few cents a box. When you feel a cold coming on, don't "monkey around" with half-way measures. Go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets). Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. Used in time, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours and that's the speed you want.

Jimmie
Fidler
...in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, November 30.—In all Hollywood history, no star has ever been better equipped to win devoted friends than Grace Moore. And yet, I know of no one who has made more personal enemies than that same gifted lady. She is an amazing personality—and an amazing person. Without being beautiful—she has tremendous charm—sex-appeal, if the Hays office does not mind the use of the term. She turns it on—and off—as easily as you or I would manipulate the kitchen faucet, but lately she hasn't turned it on often enough.

Talk to the boys and girls who work on her pictures, and their verdict is unanimous—they do not like Grace Moore. Each one has some little anecdote to tell about her lack of consideration for "the other fellow." No one incident is very damning in itself, but all of them lumped together, make quite an indictment. The electrician tells about a temperamental outburst, the publicity man talks about her lack of cooperation, the bit player complains about her using her stardom to rob him of his one good scene. And from the sum total of the reports, you get a mental picture of a person who is so completely engrossed in her own ambition and her own success that she has forgotten that other people have feelings.

These are all "little voices," too weak to reach to the heights where great stars dwell. But Grace Moore ought to listen carefully, for there has never been a star so great that he or she could survive the dislike of the people who fill the little jobs in a studio.

Maddest man in Hollywood today was Andy Devine. We were chatting on the set when a visiting exhibitor interrupted to tell about an experience he had had "back home." About three months ago, an old man, obviously down and out—came to his office and asked for permission to see the show. "I'm broke," he said, "but my son, Andy Devine, is in the cast and I haven't seen him for years." The theater manager, touched and indignant that a famous son should so shamefully neglect his father, loaned him five dollars. "Of course," he told Andy, hastily, as the Devine neck began to flame, "I realized as soon as I stopped to think, that it was probably an impostor." Andy nodded tersely. "It was," he said. "My father died in 1926."

Lunched with Myrna Loy, who was suffering from such an overdose of triumph that she could hardly eat. Seems that last week end, her husband, Arthur Hornblow, chartered a yacht and invited a party of his friends to cruise with them to Catalina. When Myrna confessed that she was not an expert sailor, everyone took pains to describe the horrors of seasickness and the roughness of the Catalina Channel. Their stories grew more and more dramatic as the time for sailing approached, and they came to the boat loaded down with sickness remedies, wrapped in gift packages and inscribed "To Myrna, with Love." The channel WAS rough, and the boat DID roll and ... that's right—you have it—Myrna was the only one in the entire party who did not get seasick.

Ten years ago, Tom Moore was one of the screen's brightest stars. Then came talkies—and Tom was lost somewhere in the shuffle. On several occasions, I asked producers what had become of him—and why. Invariably they answered that Tom, like many a silent screen favorite, wouldn't do for dialogue roles. An ironic statement, in view of the fact that Tom Moore, ruled out by the talkies, has a brand new contract with one of the major studios—as a dialogue director!

Pneumonia was an added hazard in the race against death that speeded 2-year-old Melvin Martin, held by his mother above, by train and plane from Wichita, Kan., to Philadelphia, for removal of a brass screw from his lung. JOB FOR LIFE AWAITS PERSON
AS ATWOOD POSTOFFICE HEAD

The Postoffice Department today announced in Washington, D. C., that a life job is open at Atwood. The job is that of postmaster at Atwood.

It is a life job because Atwood is a fourth class postoffice, and fourth class postmasters are appointed direct by the Postmaster General, do not require senatorial confirmation, and are for indefinite term, subject only to removal by the department for cause.

Postal inspectors have been ordered to make an investigation of candidates for the job, and the civil service commission will gather information from other reliable sources concerning suitability of applicants. Notice of the date for closing applications for the job will be posted in the local postoffice far enough in advance to permit all of those interested to get their applications in ahead of the deadline.

Like other fourth class offices, the Atwood postoffice pays its postmaster a salary based on stamp cancellations and money order sales at the office, instead of at a fixed yearly rate.

ANNUAL ORANGE
COUNTY REPORT
MAILED TODAY

The Agricultural Extension Service in Orange County today submitted its 1937 annual report to the College of Agriculture, Berkeley and to the U. S. Department of Agriculture at Washington, which institutions it represents in this county. The current report covers the 20th year of extension service activities in Orange county, according to Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg.

During the last 20 years, Wahlberg said, thousands of demonstrations and agricultural meetings have been held that have had more or less influence on the farm practices of most of the 6000 farms in this area.

"The past year was the banner year in extent of demonstrations, farm tours, and other contacts with the farmers and farm homes, based on the statistical data reported for the year. The records required by federal department of agriculture show that the farm advisor staff held 170 demonstrations during the past year with an attendance of 11,347. Besides the demonstrations 19 farm tours, 97 project meetings, 12 institutes and field days, 58 farm center meetings and 299 other meetings were participated in with a total of 39,557 people attending.

"Other activities involved in the agricultural extension program during the year included 2294 calls at the office for agricultural information, 11,292 bulletins issued, 6354 letters written and 52 farm radio broadcasts given."

Many Volunteer Leaders
The report emphasized the valuable cooperation given by over 345 farm leaders and committee members who gave of their time and effort to assist in the educational and demonstrational program of the service. The farm advisor conservatively estimates that these leaders gave at least 1329 days of their time to promote better farm and farm home practices in the county. Home demonstration activities were carried on in cooperation with eight county groups, and the 4-H program through 22 junior agricultural and home economic clubs in the rural districts.

The broad scope of the extension program is evidenced by the co-operating farm crop groups in the county, including citrus, walnuts, avocados, field crops, dairy, poultry, livestock, lima beans, and sugar beets. The marketing programs, the production cost analyses of the principal Orange county crops, agricultural conservation, soil erosion control, orchard management, livestock improvement and many other projects which have engaged the farm advisor's staff, are described in the report.

A 20th anniversary bulletin recently has been issued by the Orange county office and is available on request.

Players Now Planning
Customary
Christmas Festivities

Members of Community Players' association, accustomed to observing the first Thursday night in each month for the usual program and sociability at The Barn, have been reminded that they may make other engagements for this coming Thursday night, as the December meeting is, according to custom, postponed until nearer the date of the holiday season which it celebrates.

Friday night, December 17 has been selected for the annual Christmas party of the Players, and elaborate plans are being made to have it equal in not surpasses the delightful affairs of past holiday seasons. The Barn will wear its most gala holiday aspect and Mrs. Malcolm Macruda has been accorded the responsibility of decorating.

Mrs. Joseph Berthelet (Mabel Pruitt), Barn chairman, has appointed Mrs. Frank Was as program chairman and a capable cost is already rehearsing under the Players' director, Clara Simpson. The program will consist of a one-act, "Three No Trumps". This is a continuation of the series by Mrs. Was, on "How to Write a Play". In addition to the one act will come a visit from Santa Claus himself who has arranged his schedule so that he may visit The Barn on that one night and distribute the amusing toys which Players will provide. These latter will be collected, according to Barn custom, and distributed among little children of needy homes.

To complete the evening will be the refreshment hour, with Mrs. Esther Morse as head of a committee in charge. Mrs. Morse has her own original ideas about the refreshments, so that will be among the pleasant surprises which guests may anticipate.

Child Dancer Appears
On Program at

Winning wide acclaim for her clever dances, Zoe Ann Willy of Hollywood, six-year-old child prodigy, will be in Santa Ana next Saturday afternoon as star of the program to Junior Ebell First Book Review section's Christmas program scheduled for 2:30 in the clubhouse.

Probably little Miss Willy is one of the youngest of the fan dancers, and although she does not specialize in this type of dancing, she is said to give a very clever interpretation. Mexican and Spanish costume dances are included on her program, planned to interest children and adults as well.

Amy W. Buell of Santa Ana will play piano accompaniment for Zoe Ann. Buell's daughter, Miss Lorie Buell, will do an eccentric comedy dance, it was announced.

The program will serve as a colorful introduction to the play, "A Christmas Dream" which the First Book Review section will present under direction of Mrs. L. L. Beeman.

Little Playmates
Enjoy Birthday Party

Birthday joys were experienced in overflowing measure, by small Janet Lee Pratt, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lee Pratt, 805 North Sycamore street, who on Saturday afternoon had a birthday party with half a dozen playmates as her guests.

In planning the affair, Mrs. Pratt entertained in the home of Janet Lee's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross McClure, 2476 Riverside drive. There the children spent a happy afternoon with games and toys, climaxed with the refreshment hour. The table was spread with a deep blue cloth and centered with a unique birthday cake in the form of a woolly white lamb, completed with a blue ribbon and silver bell. There was a circus cake as well and there were such dainties as ice cream, orangeade and candies.

Each child was presented with elephant cookies, candy dolls and gay balloons, and small Janet Lee had a whole collection of gift packages to unwrap.

Her playmates were Walden Leecing, Lorna Frances Williams, Pete and Douglas Horton, Nancy Lee Reynolds and Eleanor Pettis.

Pretty Wedding Rites
Are Held
In M. E. Bride Chapel

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in First M. E. Bride chapel, occurred the pretty rites at which Miss Margaret Forbess, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Forbess, 825 Orange avenue, and Lindon Phillips of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Phillips, Wirt, Okla., were united in marriage.

Appropriate bridal music was played by Mrs. Esther Gordon, who included "I Love You Truly," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and similar melodies in her program before swinging into the Wedding March from Lohengrin. She also played softly during the service read by the Rev. Henry Irving Rasmus Jr., pastor of the church.

Miss Forbess wore a smart tailleur in navy blue with silver caracul trimming and dress accessories in the same deep blue. Her flowers were gardenias with pink rosebuds and maidenhair, and she wore a sole ornament, a quaint old gold locket.

Miss Maxine Struck as maid of honor, was gowned in black satin with which she wore red rosebuds. Raymond Born was best man, completing the wedding party.

The young couple lingered at the chapel after the services, to receive good wishes of the wedding guests before departure on a honeymoon trip that will take them to San Diego, Old Mexico and other Southland points of interest. They will return to a home awaiting them at 304 Orange avenue, and Mr. Phillips will resume his duties at the Guard Pharmacy on South Main street.

He prepared for his chosen profession at Murray State College in Oklahoma after graduation from Dundee high school. His bride finished school at Healdton, Okla. Yesterday's wedding climaxed a romance of youthful school days for the young couple.

Relatives and close family friends present for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Forbess, parents of the bride, Messrs. and Mesdames M. Struck, D. E. Magill Jr., C. E. Guard, C. D. Forbess, Omar Briner, Voris Robison and daughter Nancy, Miss Maxine Struck, Messrs. Douglas Forbess and Raymond Born, all of this locality; Mrs. Ella Taylor, Los Angeles, and Mrs. J. W. Musick, Hutchinson, Kans.

The bride and Mr. Phillips will have motion pictures of their wedding and the informal reception, for Claude Forbess took pictures both before and after the rites.

To Newly Wedded Pair

Staging the modern version of the old-fashioned charivari, friends of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Johnson took that pair of newly-weds very much by surprise at a gay party held in their home, 223 West Washington avenue.

Miss Valerie Demetriou, sister of the recent bride, who was Miss Helen Demetriou, took the necessary steps to insure the young couple's being home, by dropping in apparently to spend the evening with them. As it proved, she was but the advance guard, for in only a short time a whole merry crew of close friends arrived.

After admiring the home and its array of handsome wedding gifts, the guests produced the sandwiches and salads they had prepared for refreshments, and coffee was brewed to accompany them.

In the party with the surprised hosts were Mrs. Johnson's sister, Miss Demetriou, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Higgins and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reynolds, who had engineered the gay affair, with Bob Blanchard and Messrs. and Mesdames Carleton Smith, Allen Carstenson, Dean Benton and Jerome Gaston.

Party Series Brought To Close With
Event in Zerman Home

Mrs. A. N. Zerman brought her autumn party series to a close Saturday afternoon with a prettily arranged affair in her home, 505 South Sycamore street. Her granddaughters, the Misses Helen and Archelene Winter, assisted in receiving guests.

Flowers used in decorating bespoke the thoughtfulness of friends. There were clusters of glistening holly provided by Mrs. Alvin Nowotny; chrysanthemums in deep pink sent by Mrs. Margaret Church, and vari-colored "mums" from Mrs. Charles Aubrey.

Centering each luncheon table was a bubble bowl in which swam a tiny fish, with a hibiscus bloom floating on the water. Mrs. Nowotny, Mrs. Asa Hoffman and Mrs. J. B. Haas aided in serving. Mrs. Cyrus Lurker also lent her assistance during the afternoon.

Mrs. Mae Farrar, Mrs. D. M. Terhune and Mrs. E. F. Museum held high scores in bridge. They received hand embroidered guest towels whose autumnal shaded wrappings were adorned with small bunches of holly.

Jacoby, E. F. Museum, H. D. McIlvain, Alvin Nowotny, E. F. Perkins, Edith Snow, D. M. Terhune, Asa Hoffman, Frank T. Hoffman and Cyrus Lurker.

As games were played and completed, each guest was given the privilege of selecting a gift from the fish pond. There were many birthday remembrances for the young host.

A miniature circus tent with tiny animal figures centered the table at which ice cream and candle-decked birthday cake in green and pink were served. Gaily-colored balloons served as favors.

Mrs. A. K. Jones of Orange assisted Mrs. Eckel during the afternoon. In the group with Jerol were Glenn Bassett, Donnie Hanson, James Steffensen, Margaret and Melvin Rez, Betty Shoemaker, Dickie Jones, Audrey Russell and Bruce Snyder.

WESTWOOD HONORS

Miss Helene Elizabeth ("Betty") Martin, daughter of the W. B. Martins, 125 Bachman Drive, has just received her Sigma Delta Pi key as an achievement of her study at University of California at Los Angeles.

In company with eight other non-students at the university, Miss Martin was initiated recently into the Spanish National Honorary society at a formal dinner held in Santa Monica at the Miramar.

Ebell's Guest Speaker
Complimented
At Informal Reception

Such unexpected features as a reunion with a former college mate, a little chat in the Danish language, and an informal reception as unexpected as it was delightful, were side issues last night when Santa Ana Ebell society's guest speaker, the Honorable Ruth Bryan Owen, (Mrs. Boerge Rohde) filled her long anticipated engagement in Ebell clubhouse.

Because of the demands upon her strength of the lecture tour upon which she is currently engaged, no plans were made by the hostess society for a reception complimenting the distinguished guest. But her reception was so overwhelmingly cordial, that it was Mrs. Rohde's own suggestion that she linger after the evening's address, to greet those in the audience.

Impromptu as this affair was, it was given charming setting in the clubhouse lounge, where a fire crackled cheerfully upon the wide hearth. The honor guest, stately and handsome in a sweeping gown of cloudy black lace, and Mrs. W. S. Thomson, Ebell president, charming in black taffeta, stood in line with a friendly greeting to hundreds of interested friends.

It was during this interval that some of the reunions were noted, and brief as were the greetings accorded each one, M. R. Daughters, 2041 North Ross street, received an especially cordial welcome, as days at University of Nebraska were recalled. Both were in French and German classes together, and both recalled meetings in the beautiful Bryan home at Lincoln, Nebr.

Quite as interesting was the short contact when Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Hanson were presented the honor guest, Mr. Hanson in voicing his appreciation of her talk, explained to her that he offered that tribute to a "Genuine Dane". Her response was instantaneous, and bystanders heard it couched in what the local banker later described as "Perfect Danish, with a faultless accent."

Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Shafer had driven into Hollywood yesterday afternoon to accompany Mrs. Rohde to this city. Mrs. Shafer is chairman of the program committee for Ebell society, and had assistance last night in greeting guests, of her co-workers on the committee, Mrs. Edwin T. McFadden, Mrs. John Tessimann and Mrs. Walter McFadden. Other officers of the society lent assistance, especially in guarding the auditorium stage with a trellis of blossoming bougainvillea vine, and a great mass of flowers laid flat on the table.

Mrs. Thomson and the recording secretary, Mrs. Robert C. Korff, conducted the formal opening of the club session, before Mrs. Thomson's introduction of the guest speaker. So large a crowd was attracted by the event, that every seat in the auditorium was filled, and it was necessary to open connecting doors and place rows of chairs in the peacock room.

Mrs. Rohde's return late last night to the home of the Hollywood cousins with whom she is staying quietly while in the Southland, was in company with Postmaster Frank Harwood and Mrs. Harwood.

The Mixing Bowl

By ANN MEREDITH

We modern cooks think we know a lot of things our mothers and grandmothers never heard of, don't we? Just forget it, they knew all of the tricks, too. In my "Cooked Wagon" cook book, published 50 years or more ago, you can find frozen apple sauce, frozen pie fillings (like my chiffon pumpkin pie) and dozens of other culinary thrills. But what they did not know, was this:

An entirely different texture is given to frozen apple sauce or fruit sherbet if gelatin is added to the juice before freezing. Suppose you wanted to freeze apple cider to serve with roast pork or ham; add plain unflavored gelatin (1 envelope) to about a quart of cider, or use about two-thirds of a box of lemon or lime-flavored gelatin (dissolved in 1 cup boiling fruit juice). Stir occasionally while it freezes to a mush, then turn into a chilled bowl and whip briskly to add "fluff" to the sherbet. Return to the freezing pan and stir once only during the finishing of the freezing.

A good recipe and a stamped addressed envelope are the contribution we ask in exchange for our fine big Calory List. Send for it today, it's loads of fun to know your calories.

If you have trouble in making a fluffy omelette, try this recipe. The family will enjoy it for dinner if it is served with a peppery Spanish sauce.

Baker Puffy Omelette—For Four
6 medium sized eggs
1 cup hot milk, (top milk)
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 teaspoon flour beaten with egg yolks
1 teaspoon, mixed, salt and pepper.

Whip egg yolks with flour, then strain and combine with the cup of hot milk, salt and pepper. Have the whites beaten stiff, but not dry. Whip the egg yolk mixture through the whites and turn at once into a hot buttered skillet. Bake 15 minutes in a 350 degree (medium slow) oven. Cut to fold over, slip into a hot platter, pour a little brown butter over top and serve at once.

Spanish Sauce
For the sauce, chop a large onion and green pepper. Saute to a mush in butter, bacon fat or olive oil. Add a big cup of the tomato pulp, and season until as hot as you like it. Simmer the sauce for 30 minutes longer.

Potato Rolls
Peel and slice potatoes to make 2 cupsful.
Boil to a mush in 3 cups water, then beat with egg beater until tepid.
Add ½ cup sugar
1 heaping tablespoon lard (melt first) and 1 yeast cake dissolved in 1-2 cup of the tepid liquid.
Add 4 cups sifted flour to make a sponge and additional flour later.

—an old recipe.
The first quantity of flour, used, makes the sponge. Cover and let rise until light, then stir down and

A Muffin a Day Keeps Cathartics Away

If you suffer from common constipation here's good news for you. One good-sized muffin every day, made with Kellogg's All-Bran, will keep you "REGULAR." All-Bran puts two of Nature's own laxatives back in your diet. Instead of over-stimulating your intestines, it gives them things they need. First, "bulk"—All-Bran absorbs water and softens like sponge. This water-softened mass aids elimination. Second, vitamin "B,"—the amazing vitamin that tones up your intestinal tract.

Kellogg's All-Bran is a crunchy, toasted cereal. Eat it with milk or cream and fruit—or in muffins. But however you eat it, use it REGULARLY: eat two table-spoons of All-Bran and drink plenty of water. If you do this every day you can avoid common constipation and cathartics, too! Every grocer sells All-Bran. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Put your cap on this morning, Sammy. It is raining and there is a cold wind."

"I can't find my cap."

"Can't find it? Didn't you hang it up?"

"No, I couldn't find it in school."

"O, you lost it. Do you know that is the third cap you have had in a month? Why can't you look after your things? Other boys don't lose their things."

"O yes they do, ma. Billy lost his mittens and—"

"Yes, and so did you. Your mittens and your caps and your sweater, AND Adolph's sweater into the bargain. Something has to be done, young man. You look about the school for that cap. Put on your good one now. I can't have you out in a storm without a hat. But don't come home without it. Remember."

Sammy was late getting home that afternoon, and when he did arrive it was without his cap and rubbers.

"I couldn't find them. I looked everywhere. Somebody must have taken them. That's all. I can't help it if there are thieves about. They pick on me every time. They don't take anybody's things but just mine."

"Sammy, you talk nonsense. This has to stop. I shall go to school and ask your teacher to check on you when you get to class, before you leave and every time you come or go. You are going to learn to take care of your belongings from now on if you don't learn another thing."

Mother and teacher talked it over. "I'll look him over when he comes in, and I'll see that he hangs up his coat and cap and sweater. You be sure he has his name in 'Sammy's' face west blank. 'Gee, I guess I lost it. I must have left it on the fence when I stopped to tie my shoe.'"

"Go back and get it. If it's not where you left it go to the Lost and Found and look for it. Don't come back to me until you have a note from the teacher saying that you have done everything possible to find your sweater."

"Put I'm hungry. Starving. Can't I look after lunch?"

"No! Hurry or it will be gone. And remember the note or the sweater has to come home."

Sammy did not get home again for lunch. It took all afternoon to find that sweater. Prodded along by the monitor, directed by the teacher, he made a thorough canvass of the possibilities and at last found his lost garment in the Lost and Found room. That one hungry search did more to make Sammy remember his things than any other method.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
ROBERT BARRY—hero, explorer.
MELISSA LANE—heroine, Barry's partner.
HONEY BEE GIRL—Indian, member of Barry's party.
HARRY JONES—pioneer, member of Barry's party.

Yesterday, having failed to win Bob, Honey Bee turned against him with deep bitterness and the party faces a new complication.

CHAPTER X
MARY MELISSA had already gone horseback riding. And both Holliman and Hades Jones were away, Bob knew.

Bob hastened back to the camp tents and called Honey Bee.

"We will go alone," he told her. "Miss Lane is off somewhere. If you're right, there'll be plenty of time for all of us to see it."

This perhaps was a stroke of luck for Dr. Robert Wilson Barry, even though he never realized it. His first thought to take Mary Melissa with them had so hurt and infuriated the Indian girl that she might have done anything. She might have frozen up, in stolid Indian fashion, and never revealed any secret she knew about Defiance Castle.

But the red maiden was so infuriated, so thoroughly smitten by the unconscious charm of her employer, that she forgave him when he couldn't find Melissa. After all, she would go up with him alone.

"I am ready, Babw," she said simply.

He made her climb the ladders ahead of him. He held her arm frequently, showing her the gallant courtesy which any refined white American man would show any woman. But they were courteous, but they were courteous.

He headed the ladders at the bottom, while she climbed up. Then he would quickly follow and hold the next ladder. She climbed nimbly. They reached the rocky lip of the great cliff mouth in very few minutes.

"Now!" breathed Bob, still excited. "Where, Honey Bee?"

She smiled and led him through a low door of the castle, through two dim rooms into a larger room. This latter must have been a clan leader's or chieftain's place. She pointed low on a wall.

SCRAPED there was the design of two rectangles, or "long squares," with other odd markings, and with a long triangle around it all. The triangle pointed upward.

"This points, I think, is the top of big cracks in the back wall," said Honey Bee. "Back in the rock. It has been filled up. But these four will be there."

They hastened out to look. She pointed to a sort of natural triangle, head high or more, in the strata of the cliff rock itself.

Sure enough, Bob perceived, the rock within the triangle was irregular, not a part of the natural deposit. This had been a fault in the side of the mountain, a natural if small extension of the cave, and it had been filled in, probably by man.

Bob began working feverishly. He had carried his short-handled miner's pick strapped to his belt, and they had left more tools up here the day before.

He swung at the rock in the triangle, a heavy blow with the pick point. Nothing happened.

He swung at the rock again and again, eventually loosening one rock as big as his head. He removed it, but others were behind. She might have frozen up, in stolid Indian fashion, and never revealed any secret she knew about Defiance Castle.

But the red maiden was so infuriated, so thoroughly smitten by the unconscious charm of her employer, that she forgave him when he couldn't find Melissa. After all, she would go up with him alone.

mountain behind here is solid, for over a mile, maybe two miles. See! It couldn't be a stairway, or exit. I might have reasoned that out myself, before coming. I get excited too easily!"

He led the way back out of the darkness, and then he saw Honey Bee's face. It was a study in disappointment. Instantly Bob was contrite. He had injured her feelings, when she had tried loyally to aid the expedition.

He put his arm around her shoulders and patted her. The Indians are a sensitive people, for all their stolidity, he told himself. "I'm sorry, Honey Bee. I didn't mean to appear ungrateful. This is important as a tomb, even if it isn't an entrance. You are swell, really. You've helped more than anyone else so far. Don't think I won't remember it."

HE moved away from her, the better to survey the walled triangle through which he had dug a hole. Heavy stones had been fitted together there with remarkable skill, with no mortar but by careful chinking and placing. It made a strong wall, and a deceptive one.

Virtually all of the ancients, Bob knew, liked to keep their dead as near as possible to them, often in the very walls or floor of the home itself. In such a place as this cliff dwelling, maybe they had just set aside this anteroom as a tomb. It would surely bear careful investigation.

"Don't feel disappointed, Honey Bee," he begged again. "It's very important, really. We'll come back and look into it thoroughly."

He walked again to the hole he had cut, and leaned for a moment on the rock there, staring into the deep darkness, speculating as to the best method of procedure.

"Sa-a-a-ay!" he suddenly exclaimed.

He leaned inward, sniffing. He turned his head this way and that. Quickly he struck a match and held the flame there in the opening. It flickered, and leaned outward. The smoke twisted toward the main castle masonry, and disappeared inside.

"Ch-ris-tmas!" Bob was excited again, like the boy he was. "There's a draft here, a heavy pull of air, Honey Bee. Maybe this is an entrance tunnel after all!"

He turned to the girl, his face shining with elation.

NATIONS ENTER DANCE FESTIVAL

NEW YORK.—(UP)—The art of the dance will be portrayed in international tones on what is perhaps an unprecedented scale when Dance International makes it bow at Rockefeller Center here.

Some 40 nations will take part in the 35-day exhibition which is designed to show not only ballet and other dance forms themselves but the related arts as well. Painting, sculpture, costume, photography, literature and cinema will be used to depict the status of the dance in the 20th century.

The sponsors of this non-profit venture, which aims also to bring about "a closer relationship for better understanding" among nations through friendly competition, hope to establish Dance International as a permanent art unit in this country. The festival opens Nov. 28.

The Branch of Richmond, Va., is the author of the project. She completed plans on a 12,000-mile automobile tour of Europe last summer during which time she enlisted the active co-operation of the exhibiting governments. Assisting her was Malvina Hoffman, who this month was awarded the 1937 Eminent Achievement Award of the American Women's Association for her extensive work in sculpture.

Outstanding events on the varied program are two evenings of dance programs to be given Dec. 12 and Jan. 2.

Chicago Board of Trade

CHICAGO, Nov. 30.—(UP)—The price of wheat in the Chicago Board of Trade fell today on weakness in the Liverpool market.

At the start wheat was 1/2 cent lower, corn up 1/4 cent, and oats unchanged to 1/2 cent.

Commissioners and houses with export connections sold wheat on reports of a slackening in demand in the British market. All futures felt the pressure here.

Corn was irregular with firmer tendencies on indications of good corn demand abroad. All interests were in the market.

DRIVE CAREFULLY - SAVE A LIFE -

PIONEER PASSES

Yesterday at the First Presbyterian church in Orange friends gathered to pay a final tribute to D. F. Campbell, rancher, banker and pioneer resident of the county. Unostentatiously since his arrival here more than 50 years ago, Mr. Campbell had aided in building and in the growth of financial institutions of the community. He was one of the first stockholders in the Santiago Orange Growers association, a pioneer in orange growing.

One of the things for which Mr. Campbell long will be remembered was his keen interest in young people. He was a large contributor to the Y.M.C.A. and took an active part in the direction of the "Y" in Orange for many years. Mr. Campbell's interest in young people was intensified perhaps by the fact that his own home for many years were shared by his five girls, all of whom were educated in the state and who were graduates of the University of California.

But the rectorship—unaffraidness to do the thing that was right—were two of the dominant characteristics of Mr. Campbell's life and his influence will be felt in the community to this day. He was a young bridegroom so many years ago.

MUST FACE MUSIC

For week that does not see some of this broad band of ours getting his in the papers by handing down an unusual decision. The latest distinction seems to go to the jurist in Cambridge, Mass., who ruled that a drunken driver whose car killed two persons could not be held for manslaughter because he had been too drunk to know what he was doing.

The judge's reasoning is perfectly clear, once you examine it.

A charge of manslaughter, he explained, must be based on "willful, wanton, and reckless" conduct. At the time of the accident the driver in question was drunk, terribly drunk. Consequently, said the judge, "he was not in a position to form a judgment or exercise his will," hence he could not be "willful, wanton and reckless" in his conduct, and so the manslaughter charge fell through.

It must be added that the judge did see his way clear to send the man to jail for six months and fine him $200 on a series of drunken-driving charges.

What gets overlooked in this sort of argument, of course, is the inescapable fact that although a man may not be responsible for what he does while drunk, he most certainly is responsible for getting drunk in the first place. No one holds a gun at his head and makes him drink. If, having drunk, he can't behave, he ought to take the responsibility.

Which get us back to the Massachusetts judge.

What he says about willful, wanton, and reckless conduct may be quite true. Yet it should hardly take the learning of a judge to see that a man, about to drive an auto, who takes a large quantity of alcohol into his system, is by that very fact guilty of willful, wanton, and reckless conduct, whether he subsequently runs over anybody or not.

THE PRESS AND SUPREME COURT ISSUE

At the end of the first session of the current congress, it was believed that the supreme court issue again would be introduced at the next session.

Since that time, the feeling has grown that, due to the size and influence of congressional opposition, the issue is dead, and may not see the light of day again.

If the press of the nation accurately reflects the temper of the American people, the issue is dead indeed.

The Industrial News Review recently sent a questionnaire to 12,585 papers throughout the nation asking four direct, non-leading questions concerning possible court changes. More than 2300 papers replied. Proposed legislation that would permit the President to appoint additional justices, was opposed by 90.4 per cent; 71.6 per cent were opposed to the proposal that a two-thirds vote of the court be required to declare acts of congress unconstitutional; 72 per cent were opposed to any bill forcing justices to retire at an age fixed by law. And 88.3 per cent were opposed to a constitutional amendment limiting the authority of the court over acts of congress.

It was revealed that there was a remarkable consistency in the views of editors in far separated states, showing sentiment solidified against court changes, irrespective of sectional politics and feelings. The completed questionnaires, together with a multitude of supplemental notes and letters, indicated that those editors, as did the congressional majority when the court bill was voted on, feel that the supreme court is the bulwark of our liberties, and our first line of defense against dictatorship, and that it would be a national catastrophe to tamper with it.

The press is not swayed by momentary enthusiasms, or political hysteria. It looks at its issues in the light of their effect on the fundamentals of government. It thinks them out. And no better example of this fact could be found than in the editors' replies to the Industrial News Reviews' court questionnaire.

BLACKBURN'S RESTRICTION PLAN

R. W. Blackburn, president of the California Farm Bureau, contends that there is no compatibility between the aims and the purposes of the Townsend movement and the farm bureau agricultural plan. We contend they are exactly the same; that the purpose of both of them is to improve the condition of one group of people by taking from another group and giving them nothing in return.

While the Townsend plan would take from the consumers by a transaction tax, the farm bureau plan of restricting production would take from the consumer by making him pay more for a given amount. This would be exactly the same thing as a tax. It would be taking from a consumer and giving to the farmers, just as the Townsend plan takes from the consumer and gives to the pensioners. Both people contend that it will improve business. One is just as logical as the other. Neither plan adds a particle of wealth; in fact, both plans reduce the total amount of wealth produced in the country. The Townsend plan by preventing people from working after a certain age and the agricultural plan by limiting acreage and thus preventing the farmers from working. The logic in one is exactly the same as in the other.

Mr. Blackburn's contention that there is no compatibility between the aims and purposes is not based on fact. We would be glad to have Mr. Blackburn explain in the columns of this paper how they are dissimilar, as to aims. We admit the method of getting money is different but that is all.

Mr. Blackburn errs in his conclusions in assuming that taking from one and giving to another the exact amount will increase the purchasing power of the country. It is simply not arithmetic to so argue. It is wishful thinking.

We would like Mr. Blackburn to explain what he would have the men do in their idle time, if he would restrict their production. We would ask Mr. Blackburn to explain whether all purchasing power does not come from production and to limit production would certainly reduce the total purchasing power, would it not? We would ask Mr. Blackburn to explain why we should keep so many people on the farm and pay them to be idle part of the time when we have so many wants that need to be supplied. Does Mr. Blackburn know of any individual who does not want something for himself or for others?

Inasmuch as we can only supply individual wants by applying man's labor to natural resources, then the only possible way these wants can be supplied is for man to work and produce these wants. Any scheme or plan that reimburses a man for being idle part of the time, certainly will only reduce our standard of living instead of raising it.

We will be glad to have Mr. Blackburn explain more in detail how we can have more by having less.

ANXIETY ON THANKSGIVING DAY

Walter Lippmann in discussing the anxiety concerning our political and economical condition, points out very clearly that we have a right to correct our errors; that we have the natural resources, etc.

He says, "compared with the fatal conflicts of history our conflicts here and now are at bottom trivial. Between what the Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats are asking and what the President is hesitating to concede, the differences are as yet small, narrow and superficial."

But the trouble is that the Republicans have no constructive program. Their program is practically the same thing as the New Deal Democrats. That is the real cause of the anxiety! Each party is trying to out promise the other. Neither is willing to fight for fundamental principles which will add to our lasting prosperity.

Lippmann seems to think that all we need to do is to let the Republicans in. But the Republicans have had office for 12 of the 24 years since we have started on the down-grade, and the public is not ready for constructive leadership. This is the real anxiety, not whether the Republicans or Democrats have control.

WHO WILL SAVE?

The predicament we now are in is that the great mass of people cannot save or do not want to save and they will not permit those who can and will save. The result is that our capital is not sufficient to furnish employment at the wages people have been in the habit of receiving, and should receive provided they permitted capital to be accumulated.

FOR THE LOVE OF PETE, MR. WEST

The stew in which Supervisor West finds himself as the result of ill-advised efforts to keep the conscience of elective county officials merely is accumulating evidence that the voters of the Fifth District are due for a rendezvous with their better judgment.

No one with the slightest knowledge of county affairs will take seriously the charges launched by Supervisor West in the controversy over his brain child, the salary ordinance. The best efforts of the West press agent will be required to make that legal abortion appear to be anything but what it is and the elective officers of the county might do worse than to let the Laguna supervisor use up all his rope.

A continuation of the controversy is idle. There is no point in arguing with a phonograph even when there seems to be no practical way of turning the thing off. The best thing to do is walk away and leave it.

While other supervisors deny that West speaks for the board in this particular dispute, there can be no question that the reputation of the board as a whole must suffer from repeated forays into print over typewriters, lead pencils, and punctured tires. These are not world-shaking subjects and too much elation may become a bore. The supervisors, including Mr. West, were elected to conduct the business of the county, not its speech making. For the love of Pete, Mr. West, stand back and let us pay our tax bills before you find new occasion for rescuing us. The tax bills are sufficient headache without unnecessary buzzing in our ears.—Orange Daily News.

Things Are Getting Pretty Confusing In Europe

General Hugh S. JOHNSON Says

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The community chest plan is the best relief idea ever invented. Help of the underprivileged is an art. The ancient oriental sultans—commanders of the faithful and protectors of the poor—who rode through the streets scattering largesse of gold and silver coins to the mobs were doing no favor to the poor.

No individual, no matter how generous, can have the time, the skill, or the information to know where the need for relief is greatest, or how to make the dollar he spends go furthest. That requires not only an organization with feelers always out into each area of distress, but it also requires sympathetic expert knowledge of what is needed most and quickest and what can be omitted or delayed.

No individual can possibly do that—and neither can any remote political government. It is a great vote-getter to be able to say of the commander of the faithful to the receivers of bounty—"Variety, wouldn't bite the hand that feeds thee?" Just that was said politically in New York the other day when some Tammany schemer omitted to distribute his usual dose of turkeys. "Would you rather have Tammany give you a turkey once a year or have Mayor La Guardia bring you relief every day?"

Yes, it is a great vote-getter and political perpetuator to be able to take other people's money by taxation, broadcast it unthinkingly and then receive thanksgiving due a protector of the poor as though the money came from you, whereas in truth it came from rich and poor alike who earned it and shook it down in taxes.

The real givers have a right to be heard as to whether the money shall be spent to buy the most relief—and so do the underprivileged who are deprived if much is wasted and there is not enough to go round.

WE, THE PEOPLE

By JAY FRANKLIN

BEHIND THE ROOSEVELT SMILE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The public has so long been entertained with pictures of President Roosevelt in the role of "Smiling Frank" that it has occurred to few observers to ask whether he is anything more than an extraordinarily adroit politician with a flair for genial personal relationships, an unusual knack for political manipulation, and a good sense of trends and moods in American public opinion.

It is, in fact, one of the defects of American public opinion that it associates laughter with light-weightedness and believes that no man can possess serious abilities unless he puffs and groans publicly under the burden of his own mental equipment. Thus the gross scandals of Tammany Hall were long and indelibly dismissed because Mayor Jimmy Walker was a good wise-cracker whom it was difficult to take seriously.

Now the question is raised whether Mr. Roosevelt's baffling routine administrative contact, that there was no incentive for a shrewd politician to bone up on the subject in order to dazzle a visiting fireman.

Other people have had similar experiences. In my occasional personal contacts with the President, I have found him fully as well informed in my specialized fields as I am, and generally more so. He certainly knows more about make-up and typography than I learned in several years on the editorial side of "The New York Times," and he has carefully supervised the content of the forthcoming edition of his speeches, messages and state papers. I would dauntlessly insist that I can write better English than he can, but I doubt that I can write as persuasively. Administration motion-picture specialists report that he has a remarkably thorough knowledge both of the technical processes of their profession and also of the actual organization of the Hollywood industry. And he fairly revels in financial statements and budget-preparation.

Can it be that he has one of those legendary "men of the Renaissance," a man like Leonardo and Cellini, a man who can turn his hand to many tasks and perform them not only adequately but brilliantly? I ask this question with little doubt that I shall promptly be accused of unblushing adulation.

That is not the point, for I have never hesitated to indicate my hearty disagreement with several features of Mr. Roosevelt's policies. The point is that on no other basis is it possible to explain his gusto in the downpour of administrative detail which floods his desk and which has first drenched and then washed away strong and able American executives. His national policy has often been compared to that of Gaius Gracchus in Roman days—the reformer who tried to re-establish Roman economic stability and social security on the basis of a broader democracy, in the teeth of the B. C. Tories. There is a definite parallel between the two men and the two situations. It is therefore worth remembering that he "had been a new kind of man—almost the first Roman who administered a whole state as an alert and competent business man." That certainly is what Mr. Roosevelt has tried to do in America.

Instead of dismissing F.D.R. as merely an agreeable man who, by stumblebum luck, happens to be President of the United States, it seems to me to be worthwhile now to inquire as to what lies behind and above his snarled-tooth smile and to see whether his political achievements may not be due to really great qualities of mind and spirit put at the service of the general welfare of our people.

Although circus side-shows feature dog-faced boys and bearded women, overgrowth of the hair about the body is not an exceedingly unusual condition. There are records even of human beings who grew hair at the base of the spine, resembling the tail of an animal.

When women get superfluous hair on parts of the body where hair should not ordinarily develop, they are likely to resort to all sorts of methods (some of them dangerous) to get rid of the hair and are willing to try any sort of scheme that anybody develops for the purpose.

Overgrowth of hair on the bodies of women is more likely to occur just after they have passed 45 years of age. It occurs also occasionally in early womanhood. A young girl with fine hair on her face may treat the matter lightly if her appearance otherwise is attractive.

If, however, the hair is dark in color and is associated with a coarseness of the skin, she may become greatly concerned. A great deal depends, of course, on whether the psychologic aspects of the life of the girl are otherwise normal.

There seems to be no doubt that the excess growth of hair is associated with glandular conditions. It is not, however, possible to say in every case exactly which glands are not functioning correctly or which may be functioning excessively.

Neither is it possible in many instances to do anything very much about it so far as the treatment of the glands is concerned. Certainly there are some diseases which represent definite disorders of the glands in which the excessive hair is merely a part of a general change in the body.

There is no evidence to prove that the use of face creams will cause the growth of hair on the face. Excessive growth of hair has been seen on the faces of women who have never used creams. Other women have used creams day after day without excessive growth of hair.

It has been alleged that overexposure to the wind or to the sun may be responsible for excessive growth of hair but here again there is no evidence that these factors are important.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—Heavyest lobby ever to descend upon congress appeared there undetected last week to push for immediate tax revision.

Reading from right to left, there were four: Joseph Kennedy, the right hand man; Harry Hopkins, the left hand man; Barney Baruch, occasional backstage hand, and Admiral Cary Grayson, rare hand-ender.

They appeared, not together, but on the same day (last Wednesday to be exact) and moved with such care that only one was noticed by watchful observers.

House and senate members were naturally startled and impressed. The quadruplets did not say they came from the White House, but such emissaries usually do not need to. From their appearance in the same drive at the same moment created the impression without the necessity of expressing it in words. That is how the mysterious stories got started that Mr. Roosevelt wanted tax action immediately.

The leaders thought this strange. They had said nothing around the cloakroom (and it has not been published even yet), but they thought they had a very definite agreement with Mr. Roosevelt whereby the tax revision bill would be reported to the house January 15, and no sooner. This understanding was the outgrowth of a conference discussion at the White House.

During that discussion, Mr. R. was informed it would be downright dangerous to rush through a modification of the corporate tax, just for psychological effect. Congressional taxmakers should do a careful job that would not have to be done over again next year. They learned this lesson from their adoption of the present tax last session. They rushed the present law through on the say-so of the treasury, and now, within nine months, everyone including the treasury and the President himself seemed willing to admit it was a mistake. This time they wanted to do the job right.

This and more they told Mr. R. and he agreed to allow the house ways and means committee six weeks more to prepare the bill. But a few days later Messrs. Kennedy, Hopkins, Baruch and Grayson showed up demanding immediate action.

To an outsider this may seem slightly confusing. To the insiders, it was absolutely bewildering. They let things slide until they read in the papers a public expression from the White House to the effect that congress could pass a new tax bill as soon as it desired, or could get ready.

This brought Senate Leader Barkley to the White House on the run for what was advertised as just "a casual talk" about everything in particular and nothing in general. However, Mr. Barkley, as you may have noticed, took occasion to announce afterward that the new tax bill would be passed next session, not now.

The headlines said: "Roosevelt bars tax relief at extra session." But the news behind them is that the President is sticking to the original advice and agreement of his congressional leaders. This agreement will continue to stick unless the stock market goes wacky and needs a governmental handkerchief, or until the interested parties here again change their minds.

Thus proceeds the uncertainty of life and legislation in confused and confusing Washington, into which you will never get a sharper glance than afforded on taxes.

Sharp Senator Tom Connally swears he saw it with his own eyes. He was in the vice president's office after lunch, and had not even had a second cup of coffee. He came to talk about legislation but found Mr. Garner preoccupied.

To Connally's amazement the V. P. took off his coat and vest. Then he shed his trousers. Next he took off his shoes. From under his desk he pulled out a box and extracted some curious raiment which clearly was not a cowboy costume. After much grunting and some comparatively mild exclamations, he managed to get on what looked to Connally like a pair of checkered English hunting pants which Connally had once seen in a magazine advertisement. Then came a pair of hunting boots, a scarlet hunting cap, and an apology because the red hunting shirt was left at the hotel.

Togged out finally, the V. P. paraded around the office silently, until Connally remarked it was certainly an elegant scarlet topped outfit and would undoubtedly be just the thing for the deer hunt with Senator Guffey in Pennsylvania this week. At least, said Connally departing, it will be all right provided the hunters do not encounter a bull.

The V. P. seemed satisfied, took off his hunting outfit, put his street clothes back on.

Note—Without this outfit, on his 65th birthday, he shot a buck near uvalde, at 250 paces.

Editor Register:

People at the present time have so many different ways of getting us out of the depression they remind me of an old darkey I once knew down in one of the southern states by the name of Hamp Scott. Hamp would go deer hunting in the woods ever so often and each time he would get lost and sometimes it would take several days for him to find his way home.

The plantation owner on whose place Hamp lived with his wife and a half dozen children, became tired of Hamp being away so long each time as he needed his work on the plantation.

After being lost for several days and finally finding his way out of the woods Hamp came over to the commissary for a fresh supply of corn meal and side meat. The plantation owner known to Hamp as Mista Bill was very angry and asked Hamp where he had been. "Oh, I done got lost again," said Hamp. "Well, I have something here," said Mista Bill, "that will keep you from getting lost next time".

And turning to a drawer took out a compass. He instructed Hamp how to use the compass and had him repeat after him, "This is north, this is south, this is east, and this is west". After getting his corn meal and side meat and assuring Mista Bill that he understood the compass perfectly Hamp went on home. It wasn't long until he disappeared and was gone for several days. Finally, one morning, Hamp came into the house and looking very sheepish, Mista Bill, in an angry voice, asked him where he had been. "Well, suh," said Hamp, "I done got lost again." "Well, why didn't you use the compass as I told you," asked the angry Mista Bill, "I sho did use it," said Hamp, "I took that thing out my pocket just like you showed me and I said to myself, 'dis is north, dis is south, dis is east, and dis is west', and now what I wants to know is where is I'm at. An' you know that thing started turnin' round 'n' round' and wouldn't tell nothen and I jes put it in my pocket and walked out them woods like I always done."

With all that has been said Hamp, "Well, I have something here," said Mista Bill, "that will keep you from getting lost next time". And turning to a drawer took out a compass. He instructed Hamp how to use the compass and had him repeat after him, "This is north, this is south, this is
